PARLEY TALKS THREE-POWER NAVAL TREATY

U. S. - British - Japanese Pact Seen as Way Out of French Demands.

ENGLAND TO UPHOLD TWO-FLEET DEMAND

Admiralty Will Enforce Policy as Against France, Italy.

OBSERVER OF LEAGUE CIRCULATES PROJECT

U. S. Attitude Held to Favor Any Move to Widen Scope of Kellogg Agreement.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The British delegation at the London naval conference will uphold the two-power standard for Great Britain in surface vessels against France and Italy. This was categorically stated to the New York World News Service today in a high British quarter. The board of admiralty, firm on this point, has the British delegation behind it, despite the fact that the existing French program, taken in conjunction with Italian efforts to meet it, will make mincemeat of tentative Anglo-American tonnage agreements.

The British stand has been evident for some time and has been the subject of discussion in the press, but the announcement above is the first definite confirmation of it from a competent official source. It was given on condition that the source be not indicated in response to the argument that collapse of parity arrangements between Great Britain and the United States, in the event of failure of the French to modify their program, should be made clear by the British now so that they shouldn't be attacked in the United States for going back on their bargains.

Although Premier MacDonald's evening with Secretary of State Stimson at Stanmore last night was described as social, there is widespread belief that the two statesmen discussed the practicability of a three-power treaty between Japan, the United States and Great Britain if the new French delegation proves obdurate.

Fall of Paris Cabinet Studied.

Another persistent report, which has some plausibility, is that the fall of the present French government when it faces the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow, with the indefinite postponement of the conference that would result, might lead to adjournment and the return home of some of the Americans and Japanese. It is learned, however, that this contingency has not been "officially explored."

The League of Nations has quietly made its first appearance on the London stage during the past few days. Erik Colban, head of the league's disarmament section and league observer at the conference here, has been circulating informally a proposal that in the event of inability to agree here on limitation of building programs, the five powers should fill in the blanks in the category table with high figures coupled with declarations that they might not build up to these. Colban's idea is that a world disarmament conference to consider land, sea and air forces will be called at Geneva before the building programs now contemplated could become a menace to peace.

In American circles these suggestions are regarded as inadmissible and Colban's idea, stripped of its trappings, is declared to be an admission of failure here and postponement of serious attempts at limitation for Geneva.

Three-Power Pact Persists.

Three-power treaty talk was so persistent today in Japanese as well as British and American circles that it is clear an attempt on these lines is probable if and when the impossibility of a five-power treaty becomes manifest. A three-power treaty would mean inability to agree with France, and it is generally assumed in that case that Italy's demand for parity with France would keep her out of the proposed Anglo-American-Japanese deal.

It was significant that in Japanese quarters, where the idea of a three-power treaty has hitherto been scouted, it was hinted today that Japan would agree. Very indirectly a further hint was conveyed that Japan is not anxious for such a treaty but would come in to oblige Great Britain and the United States. The implication, unstated, seemed to be that Japan would expect to be paid for her compliance with a more generous cruiser and submarine ratio than other powers have hitherto approved.

In the same official British quarter, whence Great Britain's two-power European standard was announced, I was told today that Great Britain

20 Eager Children Ascend Hill For Opening of Hoover's School

The youngsters (lower left) received their first lesson in the school, sponsored by President Hoover, whose fishing camp is not far away. HIGHEST WOOL LEVY APPROVED IN SENATE

Four Roll Call Votes Show Majorities for Largest Tariff Rate Yet.

DEMOCRATS ARE BEATEN

Four roll call votes in the Senate yesterday showed overwhelming majorities in favor of the highest wool rates ever to be placed in a tariff bill to protect both the grower and manufacturer.

Three of them sent down to defeat Democratic proposals to slash the Hawley-Smoot levies on coarse wools used in the manufacture of cheap clothing, the protective rates on wool yarn and the ad valorem duties on men's, youths' and boys' clothing, leaving unchanged the bill tariffs on all of these articles.

A fourth record vote easily carried an amendment by Senator Thomas (Republican), Idaho, recently assigned a berth on the tariff-readjusting finance committee, to make dutiable at the much higher wool rates all mixed woven fabrics containing 15 per cent or more of wool by weight. These fabrics at present bear materially lower duties according to the chief value of the material.

All the votes came in the face of a bitter denunciation of the wool schedule by Senator George (Democrat), Georgia, who asserted it was one of the "twin sins" of the bill.

Parents Never Before in Classroom Trudge Up Mountain Path.

Boy, 12, Kept Awake All Night by Excitement, Hoists Flag.

Dark Hollow, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Book learning came to Dark Hollow today to join mountain lore.

The opening of the community school sponsored by President Hoover brought twenty eager children and many parents trudging up the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. The youngsters were to begin the magic trail of the printed word, and they came early with wonder-filled eyes.

The modern little school is perched high on Stoney Hill, hard by the summer camp of President Hoover. First to arrive there was 12-year-old Ray Burraker, who last summer drew the attention of the Chief Executive to the need for a school in the section.

Then Ray brushed through the tangled growth about the camp to bring a 'possom to the President. This time Ray came to hoist Old Glory on the school flagpole before the sun soared over Double Top Mountain.

He was so excited that he was not able to sleep last night, and breakfastless he led the procession, all of whom came early. The honor of lowering the flag this afternoon fell to Ray's 9-year-old brother, George Harold.

Ray was the best groomed of the nine boys and eleven girls, whose ages ranged between 5 and 15. George Harold, red-sweatered and hair singed

LEHLBACH ASKS COMPROMISE IN PENSIONS FIGHT

Counter-Proposal Made When Alcorn Group Suggests Peace.

MEETING IS CALLED; ANSWER DUE TODAY

Deadlock on Civil Service Retirement Law May Be Broken.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO DECIDE ON REPORT

Body Gathers This Morning; Dale Measure Expected to Lose Out.

A counter-compromise proposal in connection with retirement legislation was made late yesterday by Chairman Lehlbach, of the House civil service committee, to Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the joint conference on retirement.

Mr. Alcorn immediately called a meeting of his associates and they are to give Chairman Lehlbach an answer with regard to his compromise plan this morning.

If the Alcorn group accedes to Chairman Lehlbach's proposal, the deadlock that has existed over retirement legislation will be broken.

The House civil service committee will meet in executive session this morning to decide which bill to report—the Lehlbach bill or the Dale bill.

Amended Lehlbach Bill Expected.

The prospect is that the successful measure will be an amended Lehlbach bill.

The nature of the compromise suggested by Chairman Lehlbach yesterday was not made known, but the indications were that it dealt entirely with the Lehlbach bill and not with Dale's.

It was made clear yesterday that the Lehlbach bill will have to be the basis of whatever legislation is enacted.

Speaker Longworth discussed the retirement question with President Hoover when they had luncheon together at the White House yesterday, and on his return he called in Majority Leader Tilson and Chairman Lehlbach.

Agreement Declared Certain.

After this, Chairman Lehlbach said that he was confident that he could bring about a reconciliation between the two opposing groups.

A little later, he called in Mr. Alcorn and laid before him his compromise plan. This was a counter-proposal, because earlier in the day Alcorn's group had itself suggested a compromise to Lehlbach.

The group suggested two amendments to the Dale bill that might make that measure acceptable to President Hoover.

The first amendment provides that deductions from the retirement fund may be taken from an employ's salary only up to $3,000. Above that figure, no deductions might be made.

Thus, the higher paid employes would not have to pay the higher con-

Stocks Bought to Aid Market Sold by Pool

J. P. Morgan & Co. Announce Liquidation of Holdings Has Been Completed, Total Used in Operations Not Revealed.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—J. P. Morgan & Co. announced tonight that the liquidation of stocks bought by the powerful banking group to support the market during the October-November collapse had been completed last week.

The selling operations, a spokesman for the bankers said, had been "practically over for two or three weeks." It was added that the group "came out about even" on its transactions, which involved the employment of a huge fund, the total of which was never made public. The amount has been estimated at several hundred million dollars.

The statement, on which no formal comment was made at the Morgan offices, said:

"In behalf of the so-called banking group, consisting of ourselves, First National Bank, National City Bank, Guaranty Trust Co., Chase National Bank, Bankers Trust Co. and Messrs. Guggenheim Brothers, which, on October 24 last, was informally organized to assist in the stabilization of the then disturbed stock market situation, we are able to state that last week the group completed the liquidation upon the open market of the last of its share holdings."

Liquidation of the holdings, it was learned, began as early as last November, or as soon as the market situation had cleared. None of the securities purchased for the stabilization of prices at the time of the crisis had been retained for permanent investment.

The banking houses mentioned in the statement were leaders in the operations last fall, but a dozen other houses signified their readiness to lend assistance, if needed. It was said today, however, that their aid had not been required. No comment was forthcoming as to whether any of the money had been used to bolster brokerage firms weakened by the enormous decline in quoted values last October and November.

Although in previous times of security deflation banks had come to the rescue of the market with loans, the organization of a powerful group with the definite purpose of stabilizing prices had never before been attempted. Representatives of each house met daily at the Morgan house during the period of the 1929 decline to discuss the situation and map the course of action.

Kidnaped Banker's Family Pays $40,000 for Release

Total of Ransom Demands in Four Cases Near St. Louis Reaches $113,000 as Wealthy Illinois Business Man Obtains Freedom.

St. Louis, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The family of Charles W. Pershall, wealthy Granite City, Ill., grocer and banker, kidnaped for ransom last week, obtained his release by paying $40,000 to his kidnapers, it was here announced today. This brought the total payments in four recent kidnapings in this vicinity to $113,000.

Police believed they broke up a ring responsible for the kidnapings when they raided a house in St. Louis County last Friday, rescued Jacob Hoffman, a bookmaker, who had been held three days for ransom, and arrested six persons.

Chief of Detectives Kaiser said he had obtained an admission from George O. Blockburger, Granite City real estate dealer and professional bondsman, that he acted as go-between for Pershall and the kidnapers,

DOMINICAN ISLAND SEETHES IN UPRISING

Political Disorders Believed Result of Opposition to President Vasquez.

WIFE AT U. S. LEGATION

Pourt-au-Prince, Haiti, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Reports reaching the Haitian capital during the day from the Dominican republic indicated that an opposition movement against the government of President Horacio Vasquez had seized control of widely separated points and forced the president to withdraw to the fortress at Santo Domingo.

Capt. Verdier, commanding the Haitian border post of Quanaminthe, reported that at Dajabon, a village across the Massacre River, the Dominican guardia, has disarmed the municipal police and the partisans of the Government.

An American who arrived at Ouanaminthe this afternoon said there had been firing last night in Santo Dominico City and in the northern town of Santiago. He said that four persons were wounded at Santiago.

The Dominican Minister to Haiti, Leon Dejeans, received advices that the north central district of the republic, comprising the region around Santiago and Le Vega, was the seat of a strong opposition movement.

The disturbed situation was regarded here as the result of opposition to President Horacio Vasquez's intention of seeking reelection in May. The Haitian border is being closely watched.

RED RELIGIOUS ACTS STIR GREAT BRITAIN

Government Is Concerned Over Reported Outrages, MacDonald Reveals.

RIGA NEWS DEPRECATED

London, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald, in a letter made public today, said the British government is much concerned about antireligious activities in the Soviet Union, but could not say what it could do until it had all the facts.

The letter, an answer to an unnamed correspondent regarding religious affairs in Russia, was made public by the press department of the Labor party.

It specified that news from Riga, Latvia, should not be believed until corroborated, and added that many statements from that source had been proved false.

"The history of religion in Russia, however," the letter continues, "is unfortunately full of records of persecution. Persecution has never, in one way or another, been absent from Russian religious life, and the revolutionary mentality which generations of oppression have created has all the characteristics of narrowness and violence of purpose."

The prime minister continues that to his colleagues and himself religious persecution is hateful, but he says that is not the question at issue. It is rather, "Have we considered what we can do?"

Diplomatic recognition of Russia, said the premier, was decided purely on practical and political grounds and without reference to internal be-

Smyrna, Ga., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—A young Chattanooga, Tenn., capitalist and his family physician who were flying to the bedside of the former's wife were killed near here today as their ship plunged to earth while attempting a landing. The pilot was injured seriously, but physicians said he probably will recover.

George Tarbell Patten, 28, and Dr. Lyle D. Need of Economy Urged at Breakfast in White House.

TAX INCREASE SEEN AS ONLY ALTERNATIVE

Pending Bills Would Add $1,735,000,000 to Expenditure.

NONE OF MEASURES CAN PASS, IS CLAIM

Party Chiefs See No Ground for Alarm; Democrats Criticize Move.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover went his predecessor one better yesterday in the periodical focusing of attention on freak and money-grabbing bills pending in Congress.

Mr. Coolidge, from time to time, used to issue statements, or, through the medium of the White House spokesmen, call attention to proposed expenditures, which, if approved, would be a severe strain on the Treasury, but Mr. Hoover staged a widely heralded breakfast of Senate and House leaders.

Afterward Walter Newton, one of his secretaries, made public a statement prepared by Director of the Budget Roop showing that bills pending in Congress would increase the Government's annual expenditure by $1,735,000,000 and necessitate a 40 per cent tax increase.

Flurry Is Caused at First.

A considerable flurry was caused for a while in the belief that the President planned to cut down some of the proposed appropriations for increased governmental building, rivers and harbors and the like. But it was subsequently explained that none of the programs already agreed upon or provided for in the budget was involved, that the breakfast discussion and Mr. Newton's statement were simply the routine warning against Treasury raids. At least this was the explanation or interpretation on Capitol Hill.

Neither Senate nor House leaders saw any occasion for alarm in any of the White House developments, and they saw no occasion for altering their programs. Few, if any, of the items which Mr. Newton enumerated in arriving at the $1,735,000,000 total figure in the programs, it was explained, and, generally speaking, are not considered as having a ghost of a chance of being passed.

But the periodical focusing of attention on them serves to lesson pressure on the leaders by members of the House and senators who insist that their pet project must be approved.

Move Causes Speculation.

There was some speculation as to why the White House placed so much emphasis on them this time. The story had a two-day play, so to speak, Monday morning's newspapers having prominently displayed the fact that the leaders had been invited to a White House breakfast to discuss the Nation's finances. Mr. Newton's reference to a 40 per cent tax increase after the breakfast caused considerable lifting of the eyebrows.

The Democrats, of course, jumped on the conference with both feet.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, said "the whole thing is bunk and they know it is bunk."

Representative Garner, of Texas, House minority leader, declared the conference "was a move to divert the attention of the public from the chaotic economic and unemployment conditions brought on by lack of leadership of the President.

McKellar Joins Discussion.

"What the President is trying to do," he said, "is to restore himself in the confidence of some of his Republican leaders. Congress never had the slightest thought of authorizing the appropriations outlined in the White House statement, or doing anything that would create a deficiency in the national treasury." Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, said he was "setting up a straw man."

Aside from the Democrats, who quite naturally spoke strongly on the subject, the impression was rather general that the unusual emphasis was given to the warning in order to divert attention from the rift between the President and the Senate Old Guard on the tariff.

The tariff, it was said, was not discussed at the breakfast conference at which Senators Watson, McNary, Jones and Smoot, and Majority Leader Tilson of the House, Chairman Snell of the House rules committee, Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee, and Secretary Mellon of the Treasury, Undersecretary Mills and Budget Director Roop.

But it is understood to have been discussed at a luncheon conference between the President and Speaker Longworth. The Speaker and Chairman Wood of the House appropriations committee had not been able to attend the morning conference because of absence from the city. It is understood that both House and Senate leaders intend to go ahead with the tariff with the understanding that the President will not interfere on the question of rates.

This means that if the Old Guard can get the rates they want they will not be obstructed by the President. This seems to have been the working order agreed upon following publication of stories that the President favored the coalition fight.

In the meantime, neither Senate nor House leaders are to give out any more statements, expressing doubt that the newspaper stories reflected Mr. Hoover's views, and presumably, Senator Grundy, of Pennsylvania, is to cease his agitation against the President.

WICKERSHAM GROUP TO GIVE RUM VIEWS

committee—but probably behind closed doors.

The committee agreed yesterday after sharp debate over the Norris resolution, for an inquiry into the enforcement situation to call in these officials two weeks from now to obtain their ideas. The delay in action on the Norris proposal for a Senate investigation was regarded by some of those favoring the inquiry as augurting its defeat.

Members of both sides were looking forward to the opportunity to examine Mitchell and the law enforcement commission on their knowledge of conditions surrounding enforcement of the dry law. There have been persistent reports at the Capitol that the Hoover commision is sharply divided over the prohibition issue and over the manner of enforcement. While the judiciary committee voted to hear the whole commission, it is likely that only Chairman Wickersham and perhaps one or two other members will be called in.

Arguing for his inquiry resolution before the committee, Chairman Norris reiterated his belief that there has been "too much politics in dry enforcement and it is tup to the President to eliminate it."

Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, terminated the sharp committee discussion by moving to call in the administration officials. It carried almost unanimously, but without a record vote. Senator Ashurst declined to comment on his motion after the meeting, but the suggestion was advanced that it would defer the prohibition row until the tariff bill is out of the way.

Coincidentally with this decision, Chairman Norris referred the House bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department to a subcommittee headed by Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina. He takes the place of Senator King (Democrat), Utah, who introduced the bill in the Senate, but who is confined to a hospital.

Senator Overman said he intended to have early consideration of the transfer bill and probably without open hearings. He indicated his favor to the measure in the form it was passed by the House, with perhaps some minor amendments.

Prohibition later came in for discuisson in the Senate, where Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, in a speech condemning the first year of the Hoover administration, asserted "the President has taken no steps to secure better enforcement of the liquor laws."

"They are not being enforced anywhere," he added, "and the lack of enforcement is entirely due, in my judgment, to his failure to take a stand in the matter. To date he has made a miserable failure in liquor law enforcement."

from helping burn trash on the ground, did not let his big brother have all the limelight. Friendly, and with a trouser pocket fat with a can of tobacco, he was high in his praise of the radio Mr. Hoover has installed in the schoolhouse.

There were twelve Burrakers at the opening, eight of whom were pupils. Grandfather Burraker, 89, a gray-bearded patriarch, and Grandma Burraker, 72, wearing a blue bonnet and a black suit, walked two miles to arrive bright and early. The possibility of saying "a few words" with President Hoover brought out grandpa, and grandma said she came because she had eight grandchildren there. Neither had been in a schoolhouse before.

Lloyd Woodward and Mrs. Woodward came with seven young Woodwards, two of whom were twins. The mother also carried a baby in her arms.

The girls were dressed in their best. Celia Burraker, 10 years old, was the only one who wore a hat. An orange poke bonnet, it was gay with morning glories and blue ribbons.

Pretty little Virginia Burraker, not quite 6, happily shook her honey-colored curls when a visitor gave her a vanity case. Her deep brown eyes flashed belligerently when several older girls made offers for it.

All the boys, with the exception of Ray Burraker, wore overalls and heavy shoes. Enthusiasm for school rivaled their enthusiasm over their teacher, Miss Christine Vest, of Yosemite, Ky., a graduate of Berea College.

Miss Vest made no effort to teach them today, saying she preferred to wait until their excitement subsided. She is expecting more pupils soon, with the probability of many older boys and girls enrolling.

HUGHES SWORN IN AS CHIEF JUSTICE

Oath Administered Simply by Senior Member of Court.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TAFT

(Associated Press.)

Charles Evans Hughes ascended to the Chief Justiceship of the United States yesterday in an atmosphere in which there was mingled gladness for his coming and sadness for the serious illness of his predecessor, William Howard Taft. A simple oath of office administered in the dignified chamber of the court made him the eleventh in the historic succession of Chief Justices since John Jay in 1789. As was the first Chief Justice, Mr Hughes is from New York.

Unperturbed by the realization that he was about to rea h the pinnacle post of his distinguished career, he entered that cozy room where the justices don their robes to sit on the bench a few minutes before the usual noon meeting hour. There his associates greeted him warmly.

The group stood informally around the table where they lunch each day the court is in session, while the venerable Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes administered the oath of allegiance to the Constitution. Mr. Holmes' voice quivered slightly. He will be 89 years old next month and is the oldest member of the court, having become a member in 1902. Thus he remembered the time before that Mr. Hughes took that oath, for his service on the court from 1910 to 1916.

Court Forms in Line.

After the brief ceremony, the court formed in line with its marshal at the head and Mr. Hughes at the end. Crossing the corridor slowly, while onlookers watched in silence, the procession entered the courtroom to the announcement of its approach by the crier.

The traditional repetition of "oyez, oyez" rang throughout the chamber, while the justices were taking their chairs high on the bench. Mr. Hughes had remained beside the clerk's desk, while that individual was vocally notifying all who had business with the court to draw nigh and give their attention.

A moment more and the eight justices were seated. Stillness pervaded the chamber after the watchers had sat down, too. Thereupon Justices Holmes announced falteringly and with effort the resignation of William Howard Taft, who for the past nine years had been Chief Justice and is now at his home here afflicted with illness. Mr. Holmes expressed his grief that Mr. Taft should have been compelled to relinquish his responsibilities. He spoke but few words and his emotion brought tears to the eyes of many present, but his pleasant eyes brightened a little in adding "we are happy to know that in his place is to sit our old associate, Charles Evans Hughes."

Notes Presence of New Chief.

The white-haired, patriarchal jurist then formally noted the presence of the new chief. He directed the clerk to read President Hoover's appointment of him, and to administer the judicial oath to him. First, the commission was intoned.

The greatest moment in Mr. Hughes' 68 years had come. He looked straight forward, his shoulders stiffly back, as the associate justices rose. He repeated in measured tones the judicial oath with which he swore to treat all alike, be they rich or poor. Later he signed the document from which he read.

With a happy smile the new chief of the American judiciary stepped lightly to his place at the center of the bench and grasped the hands of Justices Holmes and Van Devanter, sitting on either side of him. He bowed to the other members of the court and to those in the courtroom before sitting down.

With that, the business of the court was under way. The associate justices began announcing the opinions they had prepared during the recess.

The first act of the new Chief Justice was to recess the court for lunch, and his next act was to recognize his son, the Solicitor General, to move the admission of several lawyers to practice before the court.

Chief Justice Hughes did not participate in any of the decisions or orders of the court, but showed his great familiarity with the work now devolving upon him when various motions were submitted.

Supreme Court Justices Send Condolences to Taft

Regrets Over Retirement of and Praise for Jurist Are Expressed by Associates in Letter Which Is Acknowledged by Former Head of Tribunal.

(Associated Press.)

Correspondence made public yesterday showed that the associate justices of the Supreme Court, under date of February 10, joined in a letter to William Howard Taft expressing regret over his retirement.

The letter read:

"We call you Chief Justice still, for we can not quickly give up the title by which we have known you for all these later years, and which you have made so dear to us. We can not let you leave us without trying to tell you how dear you have made it. You came to us from achievements in other fields and with the prestige of the illustrious place that you lately had held, and you showed in a new form your voluminous capacity for work and for getting work done, your humor that smoothed the rough places, your golden heart that has brought you love from every side, and most of all from your brethren whose tasks you have made happy and light. We grieve at your illness, but your spirit has given life an impulse that will abide whether you are with us or are away."

Under date of February 12, a letter signed by Mr. Taft and addressed to "My Dear Brethren," was delivered to the justices. It read:

"I can not adequately say how deeply I am touched by your affectionate letter. I regretted for many reasons the necessity of tendering my resignation, but none so strong as the ending of those pleasant associations with each and all of you, which during the past nine years have been so dear to me. Only the advice of my doctors and my own conviction that I would be unable to continue adequately the great work of the court, forced me to leave you. That work, in your hands, will go on as well without me, but I am grateful, nevertheless, for your words of appreciation."

Reelection Is Opposed.

An opposition movement today forced the resignation of the vice president, Dr. Alfonseca, and despite the government's efforts to pacify it, caused trouble beyond the Sierra de Cibao, the mountain range dividing the northern and southern sections of the island republic. In addition to the towns of Santiago Moca, La Vega and Puerta Plata, where some disturbances occurred last night, the town of Monte Cristi, a community of about 4,000 inhabitants, was reported to have joined the opposition.

The opposition has opposed the design of President Vasquez to seek reelection on May 15. The president had served two terms, and in June, 1927, had the constitution revise the terms of himself and of congress from 1928 to 1930.

(Associated Press.)

Official word that Senora de Vasquez, wife of the president of the Dominican Republic, had obtained asylum in the American Legation there was received yesterday at the department.

Comes As Surprise.

Charles B. Curtis, United States Minister to Santo Domingo, cabled the State Department that the minister for foreign affairs of the island republic asked permission to shelter the president, his wife, and the vice president at 6 a. m., yesterday. He reported further that only Senora de Vasquez had availed herself of the protection, and that the two officials had gone to the fortress.

The news of revolutionary activities, as reported by the Associated Press, came as a surprise to Angel Morales, Dominican Minister to Washington. He was without official information from his country and said that there had been no previous reports of revolutionary activities on the island.

President Vasquez himself returned to the Dominican Republic only recently after spending two months in the United States where he and Senora de Vasquez underwent surgical treatment at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Chamber Is Cited As Community Aid

Takoma Minister in Speech Says Group Can Help in Unification.

Unification of the varied elements of the community through the medium of the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce, was the message given to that body last night at its annual dinner in the Takoma Masonic Lodge. The Rev. R. Paul Shearer, minister of the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church, gave the principal address in which he stressed the necessity for altruism in business rather than selfishness.

The speaker declared that in addition to a "trade at home" campaign the community needed a "worship at home" drive. Instead of going to the city to worship, he said, the citizens should help maintain their own churches in the locality by faithful attendance.

Other guests and speakers were Gordon W. Bonnette, president; B. W. Parker, president of the Bethesda Chamber; Leonard L. Nicholson, president of the Rockville Chamber; Mayor Ben J. Davis, the Rev. Culbertson Clark, pastor emeritus of the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church; the Rev. William E. La Rue, of the Takoma Park Baptist Church; the Rev. R. G. Steinmeyer, of the Takoma Park Evangelical Lutheran Church, and the Rev. M. Elmore Turner, of the Takoma Park Christian Church. H. H. Votaw was toastmaster.

WRECK, FATAL TO 11, BLAMED ON AUTOIST

Two Others Expected to Die From Hurts Received as Trains Hit Car.

INQUIRIES ARE STARTED

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Responsibility for the wreck late last night of two North Shore electric trains with a toll of 11 dead and 84 sent to hospitals with injuries, appeared to center, officials said, on Norman E. Shinners, 21, Milwaukee, who took a chance at a grade crossing and lost his life and that of a friend in the automobile with him.

The other nine dead, four women and five men, were among 130 passengers aboard a southbound, five-car train from Milwaukee to Chicago, which struck Shinhers' automobile, which had just escaped being hit by a northbound 16-car freight train.

The passenger train, traveling at a high speed, rocked violently for a moment, surviving passengers said, and then left the rails, striking the freight train. After the impact, which derailed 13 of the freight cars, the passenger train hurtled to the other side, coming to rest in a ten-foot ditch, 125 yards from the crossing. Four of the crushed cars, paired up alongside each other in the ditch while the fifth brought up the rear.

Panic Reigns in Cars.

Panic reigned in the darkness of the wrecked cars. The dying and injured moaned and shrieked in pain. Many were kept in the wreckage and were trampled by those seeking exits.

Those fortunate enough to escape injury joined with passing motorists in rescue work. This force was augmented a little later by Kenosha police, firemen and ambulance drivers.

Tonight 42 of the injured were still interned in hospitals. Two, C. W. Hall, Chicago, motorman of the passenger train, who jumped from the vestibule, suffering a broken back, and a man identified only as Mr. Blumborg were in a critical condition and their recovery was doubtful, physicians said. Blomborg, in addition to internal injuries, suffered a broken leg and a broken arm. He was pinned in the wreckage and begged to be shot while rescuers sought to free him.

Driver Planned to Wed.

Two investigations were started. Coroner A. B. Schmitz ordered an inquest. The North Shore Co. announced it would also make an inquiry.

Young Shinners had spent Sunday with Miss Jeanette Bonahan, Kenosha, and made plans to announce their engagement within the next few days. After leaving Miss Bonahan, Shinners, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Frank Tomczak, of Kenosha, started for Milwaukee. The crash occurred a few minutes later.

Medical Work Abroad Aided by Sanitarium

Appropriations of $10,000 were made last year from the earnings of the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital to aid in the promotion of medical work in foreign lands. C. C. Pulver, general manager of the Takoma Park institution, announced last night at the annual meeting of the directors.

Last year was the most successful for the hospital in the number of patients and in the gross receipts, Mr. Pulver said. He urged new equipment, a more efficient plant, and beautification of the grounds.

Crystal-Gazing

Most of us are intrigued by crystals. Whether or not one has any leaning toward the occult, there is a fascination in gazing into the clear, limpid depths of a beautiful, pure crystal.

Sparkling, translucent American Ice has the same quality possessed by rare crystals—that of absolute purity. It is possible to gaze into the depths of a cube of this famous ice and find no slightest flaw to mar its clarity.

And so when users of American Ice do their crystal-gazing they will see that in the future, as in the present, the high quality of this ice will be maintained and the dependability of the service will remain constant.

COURTS WILL DECIDE ON HUGE OIL MERGER

Government Initiates Action to Test $1,500,000,000 Standard Combine.

TRUST ISSUE INVOLVED

(Associated Press.)

The legality of the proposed $1,500,000,000 merger of the Standard Oil Co. of New York and the Vacuum Oil Co. will be tested in the courts by the Department of Justice before it is completed.

The department announced yesterday that judicial proceedings would be inaugurated within ten days in St. Louis courts to test the validity of the merger. This action will be taken because attorneys of the Government disagree with the contention of counsel for the corporations that there can be no question of the legality of the action. After studying the plans, department officials said they felt that they should be passed upon by the court.

Counsel for the companies, in submitting their plans to the Government, argued that the proposed merger did not violate any of the sections of the Sherman antitrust law and did not conflict with the decree of 1912 dissolving the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, of which the two corporations were subsidiaries.

The corporations had been informed of the intention of the Government to file action in equity to test the validity of their proposal.

Under the plans of the corporations, the Standard would change its name to the General Petroleum Corporation. This corporation would have all the assets of the Standard Oil Co. of New York and would acquire the assets of the Vacuum Oil Co. through exchange of three shares of capital stock of the General Petroleum Corporation for one share of Vacuum.

The Standard, in announcing the merger plan last week, told its stockholders that the Department of Justice believed the question involved should be decided by the courts and said that pending this the final merger would be delayed.

Supreme Court Asked To Review Snook Case

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court yesterday took under consideration a petition filed by James Howard Snook, Ohio State University professor, asking the highest tribunal to pass on his conviction for the murder of Theora Hix.

Execution of Snook has been postponed until next Friday and it is expected that the court in the meantime will announce whether it will review the case. Should a review be granted the court will order a further stay of execution until it can have time to consider the merits of the controversy.

GUNMAN AFTER HIM, COOLIDGE IS WARNED

Mysterious Letter Received by Former President in California.

JOKE SEEN BY POLICE

Los Angeles, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Former President Calvin Coolidge received a letter here today warning him that an Eastern gunman had come West with the intention of taking his life. The letter asked Mr. Coolidge to "be careful and protect yourself" and added "I will pray for you and remain your friend."

The letter was turned over to a bodyguard who stood beside the former President as he opened his mail. He and Mrs. Coolidge returned here last night from a week-end trip to Santa Barbara. Mr. Coolidge showed no concern over the letter, associates said. He merely raised his eyebrows and said to the bodyguard: "I guess this belongs to you."

Two initials composed the signature. Police withheld them from publication pending investigation. They believed the missive was the work of a crank.

The Coolidges are visiting in southern California as "tourists." The letter to Mr. Coolidge read:

"Hon. Mr. C. Coolidge: I would like to warn you that a gunman, murderer from the East arrived in Los Angeles and he said Mr. Coolidge is going to make the trip back East in coffin because he is going to kill him so for God sake be careful and protect yourself and Mrs. Coolidge because he sure will do it. His brother is in penitentiary for bootlegging. God bless you and protect you. I will pray for you and remain your friend."

POISONER HELD SANE AS DEATH LIST RISES

Two Detroit Killings Added to Eight He Confesses to Murdering.

INDICTMENT IS DRAFTED

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Adjudged sane by two physicians who examined him after he was locked in the Tombs today, James Baker, 23, faces indictment for the murder of Henry Gaw, laboratory watchman, here in December a year ago.

Thomas C. T. Crain, district attorney, announced he would immediately proceed against Baker in the Gaw case after Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, Tombs Prison physician, and Dr. Otto H. Schultze, Crain's medical assistant, reported that in their opinion Baker was of sound mind.

Baker was brought here to answer an indictment for theft of $20 from the Guggenheim Laboratory, where Gaw was poisoned and where Baker formerly was employed. He was listed as a suspect in the Gaw killing at the time, but he disappeared and was not seen again until arrested recently in Detroit.

Not only did he confess to killing Gaw, who died from a draft of poisoned coffee, but he also told of poisoning seven other persons. Today he added two more murders to his list. These were the murder of a taxicab driver in January and of Walter Awe, a Grand Trunk Railroad detective, a year ago. Baker told police he killed the taxi driver, robbed the body of $10 and a watch, pawning the latter under the name of Edward Nauakoski.

Shopping with Bab

DEAREST GENEVIEVE: With spring in the air, bright sunshine, and buds ready to burst on the trees, it is only natural that we think of new raiment befitting the season.

The shops are a perfect joy, just now. Whether you are ready to buy or not, you should go about and see the various displays, so that you may establish your preferences in the approved styles.

As usual there will be certain models which will become the standard in every woman's wardrobe. Just which ones those will be has not yet been determined.

Pasternak Has The Agnes Beret

—which you have seen on your friends lately returned from Paris. In black satin it is perfect, and in egg-shell felt it is very smart, too. Hats at Pasternak's invariably assume special importance at this season when women frequently begin their spring wardrobes with a marvelous little hat, and then build around it.

This is not difficult to do at Pasternak's, for assembling a wonderful new wardrobe in this incomparable shop, is both pleasant and satisfying. We can not lay too much stress on the tailleur, which is in greatest demand now. Pasternak shows, too, adorable frocks for afternoon and evening, and for all day wear under the trig little spring coats, or merely with a fur neck-piece.

Mimi Announces Clearance Sale

—which will interest small size women, and women who are buying for young girls. Mimi, 1732 Connecticut avenue, on the second floor, is selling today, and until they are all sold, a number of attractive frocks and coats which have been much more expensive than the price placed on them now.

A blue velvet coat lined in blue kasha for $5, is a spectacular buy. The material alone in this coat cost $10.50, to say nothing of the making. Little crepe dresses, age 14 and 16 years, were $16.50 are now $6.50. Two winter coats were $25 each, now $7.50. Don't miss Mimi's.

Pastel Shades for Children

—are pretty in the spring. J. Rand, 1702 Connecticut avenue, has just received from England a shipment of mercerized cotton suits and dresses in the loveliest shades you have ever seen—daffodil yellow, forget-me-not blue, peach pink, rosy pink and some pure white to wear with colored sox and hats.

Fine silk and wool suits and dresses came in the same shipment. All these new arrivals are especially lightweight and just exactly what you want for the warmer weather. As I have often told you, nothing can compare with the J. Rand importations for cut and durability.

If You Wonder In Passing

—at the beauty of the photographs of children in Underwood & Underwood's you may be sufficiently curious to inquire how they are made, or what it is gives them that illusive quality so difficult to secure in a picture.

You have heard of the new double camera which Underwood & Underwood have featured for the past year. It works so fast that the most fleeting expressions of children are caught in the lens. Small wonder, then, that you are yourself surprised at the photographs of the babies you know the best. They seem to speak, they are so natural and life-like.

Drop in the Underwood & Underwood studio and ask to have this camera explained to you. Then, better still, have some sittings before it, and see what marvelous results you will realize.

Satin Pajamas With Real Lace

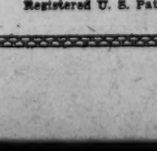
—at Elizabeth Arden's, 1147 Connecticut Avenue, are only one in dozens of items to interest you in the lingerie and novelties in this fascinating shop.

Everything in Elizabeth Arden's is selected or especially made for their exclusive clientele. It is true that you are able to find here the type of French lingerie you anticipate buying in Paris and never have enough of.

Step in the street floor shop, and see the adorable things on exhibit there, then take the elevator to the fifth and sixth floors and see what the new salon is like.

The Iron Gate for Parties

—has always been the favorite place for many hosts and hostesses. The Iron Gate Inn, 1739 N street, is unique in every way. It has a certain historic interest, as it was once the stable housing the thoroughbreds of Gen. Nelson A. Miles. Visitors to Washington always include a luncheon or dinner in this attractive restaurant as one of the important items on their program of sightseeing.



Luncheon, tea and dinner are served regularly here. The second floor, or the loft, as it is called, is available for parties. The food is very good at the Iron Gate Inn.

Latest Developments in Spring Fashions

—are found in the frocks for $19.75 featured in the shop of Schwartz, 1325 Connecticut avenue. The draped neckline, which is so popular on certain type frocks, the even hemline, with length, and all the nicest colors may be found in the collection of models in this pleasant shop.

It seems to me that chief among the reasons why you should visit Schwartz is the fact that they have so many frocks in each color. This is one place you can go and say "I am looking for a simple dress in a pretty green" and know that you will get it. Frocks at higher prices are found here, too, for tea dancing, for all-day wear, for afternoons.

Affectionately,

FAILURE OF PARLEY DENIED BY M'DONALD

Premier and Stimson Read With Surprise Alleged Collapse Report.

FRENCH VOTE AWAITED

London, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Both Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Col. Henry L. Stimson of the United States, glancing over the newspapers this morning at Stanmore, where the Premier was a guest of Mr. Stimson, read with surprise the sensational account in one of London's large newspapers of the collapse of the naval parley and its adjournment until 1935.

When Mr. Macdonald returned to Downing street he authorized a statement that there was "no truth whatever in the reports."

No statement was available from Mr. Stimson, but Arthur Wilson Page, his aide, issued a denial.

The Prime Minister was annoyed tonight at the defeatist atttude taken by some sections of the British press. It was to avoid such reports that the delegations decided to adjourn for a week while the French ship of state righted itself. No one here minimizes the seriousness of the situation should Chautemps be defeated tomorrow, but reports indicate that he seems assured of a small majority and perhaps a month of life, in which the London negotiations could be concluded.

POLICE SET PICKET IN EVIDENCE SEARCH

the impression that the premises are being used to house a dispensary for illicit beverages, for Maj. Pratt said last night that in response to complaints received, his minions would continue to picket the address from now on, or at least until sufficient evidence may be obtained to justify a raid.

As each caller presented himself at the door, he was stopped by the policeman, who demanded his name, address, occupation, and took his general pedigree. Some few seemed discouraged and went in quest of other locations, but the majority gave the desired information and passed on through the door.

"Who was that?" the policeman was asked by a photographer who had just "shot" the officer in the course of his questionnaire.

"He said his name was Rudy Vallee," the policeman replied, "but I don't believe him. Rudy Vallee is thinner than he is."

And so it went, until at last, the dawn. And still the policeman stood his lonely picket vigil, questioning all and sundry alike, quite courteously.

Maj. Pratt stated that he had received complaints about the place, but that thus far the police had been unable to get any evidence that would warrant a raid.

"If we check up on the people going in and out," he said, "and drag a few of them into court, perhaps some of them will tell the truth and we can act to close the place if it is operating illegally. This is not the only place on our list. I have issued instructions to have every questionable place in the District watched and when sufficient evidence is obtained, closed."

U. S. Navy Parley Typists Bow to Society in Britain

Stenographers Mingle With English Nobility at Brilliant Reception of Foreign Secretary Henderson to Conference Delegations in London.

London, Feb. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Aristocratic ghosts of former foreign secretaries including that of the late Marquis Curzon of Keldleston, which may haunt the corridors of the foreign office here, must have received a terrible shock tonight when fifteen stenographers attached to the American naval delegation, ascended the state staircase to the banqueting hall there and shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson at the reception the British foreign secretary gave to the delegations to the five-power naval parley.

Thus the foreign secretary and his wife paid tribute to what they presumably considered due to the democratic ideals of the United States and followed what they may have supposed has been the usual custom at similar diplomatic functions at Washington. For tonight's affair, despite the fact that it was held under the labor regime, was the traditionally brilliant foreign office reception where the sparkling jewels and fashionable evening gowns of the women vied with the gorgeous decorations adorning the breast of diplomats, naval officers and the high government officials present.

The now famous fifteen stenographers lived up to the occasion. Takin gadvantage of the "holiday" at the conference, they scurried around town today buying shoes, gloves and stockings—and in at least one case a new dress—to grace the great occasion.

NEW PARIS CABINET IS READY FOR TEST

Vote of Confidence Due Today With Canvass Showing Forces About Even.

TARDIEU IN OPPOSITION

Paris, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—France's new radical-socialist government was ready tonight for the first test of strength in the Chamber of Deputies, counting on a majority of from 10 to 15 in the crucial vote of confidence tomorrow.

Premier Camille Chautemps, who will read the ministerial statement of policy at 3 p. m., personally expressed confidence today in his chances of that undoubtedly will rock the cabinet ship. Receiving newspapermen, he said he would outline his policy to the Deputies and they could then take the responsibility of accepting or rejecting it.

The greatest uncertainty prevailed in other circles, however. A thorough canvass of deputies of all groups, weathering the storm from the right made by supporters of the government, today showed the voting strength of the Chautemps Cabinet and of the opposition to be about evenly matched. In sporting parlance, the betting was "even money, take your pick."

The new premier's budgetary program may prove his salvation. A statement promising lower taxes is confidently expected, and the popularity of such a measure may cause many deputies who would otherwise vote against the government merely to abstain from voting.

In any case former Premier Tardieu and his group of 64 deputies will be in the ranks of the opposition. M. Tardieu himself told his followers that he felt it was "impossible for them to support" the Radical-Socialist leader.

A full meeting of the cabinet examined the draft of the ministerial declaration this morning. Another cabinet meeting, under the direction of President Doumergue, will reexamine it at the Elysee Palace tomorrow morning.

At the same meeting today the new French delegation to the London naval conference, containing only two of the previous members, was discussed and finally approved. It will consist of Premier Chautemps, Foreign Minister Briand, Minister of Marine Albert Sarraut, Minister of Colonies Lamoureux and Ambassador De Fleuriau.

Absence of Attorneys Delays Dreyfus Report

Due to the unexpected absence from the city yesterday of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, the District grand jury did not make its scheduled report of its investigation into the death of Aurelia Dreyfus, who met death last fall at the Potomac Boat Club.

The United States attorney's office announced last week that the report would be handed down yesterday, but when the grand jury adjourned for the day it had not made the report. Investigation revealed that Mr. Burkinshaw, who handled the case before the body, was not in the city, and that Mr. Rover also was absent. It was indicated that if Mr. Rover or Mr. Burkinshaw return today the report will be made.

THREE-POWER PACT TALKED AT PARLEY

LEAGUE'S HAND APPEARS

would welcome a three-power treaty and that, if the present American figures had been available at Geneva three years ago, a treaty would have been signed then. By a coincidence the same remark was made later independently by an American who was at the Geneva parley.

Weakness of Three-Power Pact.

But, added the British informant, a three-power treaty would mean inability to agree with France and, therefore, inevitably inclusion of a clause giving the three high contracting powers the right to exceed the programs they desire relative to one another in the event of excessive building by outside powers. Asked what, then, becomes of Anglo-American parity, no answer was returned, but instead the correspondent was asked whether a three-power treaty with such a rider would go through the Senate.

In an American quarter, where the same subject was discussed, the opinion was expressed that it probably would, provided responsibility for a five-power failure is clearly understood in Washington.

A misunderstanding has been created by Washington reports that the administration is opposed to the United States delegation taking part in any "pacts." This, it was made clear today, refers only to Mediterranean or other "regional" pacts and not to extension of the Kellogg pact. The latter is still a possibility and has not been vetoed by President Hoover, although it is not intended to make it part of any naval treaty. In fact, however, these pact discussions at the present critical stage appear rather academic. There is no prospect that any extension of the Kellogg pact, to which the United States or Great Britain could agree, would modify the French and Italian programs, and this is now generally admitted.

Seaplane Discussion Reported.

"The conference is still alive," was the headline printed here this afternoon over a story reporting that the subcommittee of experts met today and talked about seaplane carriers as distinct from airplane carriers. A seaplane carrier, as defined by experts, means a ship which carries not more than five machines and has launching apparatus but no landing facilities.

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson entertained the American delegates at a large dinner tonight prior to a foreign office reception to which all members of the delegations, here including stenographers and even newspapermen, the latter a complete breach of precedent, were invited.

Suburban Building Code Is Advocated

Support of the uniform building code for the suburban area was urged by Irvin Owings, chairman of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, in addressing the Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce last night. The matter was referred to committee.

William T. Jennings, chairman of a special committee named by the Chamber of Commerce to obtain uniform lighting on Rhode Island avenue extension, reported satisfactory progress in talks with town officials of Brentwood and North Brentwood.

The chamber indorsed the Hudspeth bill seeking a half-day holiday on Saturdays for Federal employes. No action was taken upon consideration of the proposed 7-cent tax for park development. The matter was referred to committee.

EDITOR ANNOUNCES FOR HEFLIN'S SEAT

Frederick I. Thompson Will Oppose Bankhead for Primary Choice.

SENATOR NOT DISMAYED

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The campaign for the seat in the United States Senate, now held by J. Thomas Heflin, was given added impetus today with the announcement here that Frederick I. Thompson, of Mobile, publisher of five Alabama newspapers, would oppose John H. Bankhead, Jasper attorney, for the Democratic nomination in the August primary.

Thompson's announcement asserted that Bankhead's candidacy is being sponsored by "selfish and reactionary interests," who sought to shield him from opposition by limiting to March 1 the time for filing qualifications to become candidates in the primary.

Heflin is a candidate for reelection but has been barred from the primary for failure to support the Democratic presidential ticket in 1928. He has announced he will head a group of "Jeffersonian Democrats" in the November election.

Heflin Expresses Regrets.

Informed at Washington today that Thompson had announced his candidacy, Senator Heflin expressed his regrets, explaining he had hoped "to have this fight with John Bankhead, the nominee of the Smith-Raskob-Tammany-controlled State committee."

Camden, Ala., Feb. 24. (A.P.).—Former State Supreme Court Justice B. M. Miller, of Camden, today became the seventh announced candidate for governor of Alabama on a platform which he said included "antiklan rule" and "chain store regulation" planks.

In his announcement today Judge Miller said, "The time has arrived for a reestablishment of a government of the people, by the people and for all the people, and not as we have now in Alabama, a government by, of and for the Ku Klux Klan."

Both Senators Klansmen, Claim.

Judge Miller charged that both Alabama's representatives in the United States Senate are Klansmen and that members of the secret order and their friends control the Legislature.

Judge Miller approved the action of the State Democratic executive committee in barring party bolters of 1928 from becoming candidates for office in the party's 1930 primary. He advocated regulation of chain stores by a graduating system of taxation and on the number of stores operated, with the view of protecting the home merchants.

Other announced gubernatorial candidates are Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, Col. Woolsey Finnell, director of the State Highway Commission; Probate Judge Jefferson A. Carnley, of Coffee County; Lieut. Gov. W. C. Davis, of Jasper; Will Lee, Columbia attorney, and Hugh Locke, Birmingham attorney. Lee and Locke are barred from the Democratic primary for opposing the Democratic presidential ticket in 1928. Locke has announced he will run as an independent, but Lee has said he has no such intention.

liefs or policies. He added that Russia had been recognized for general good, however intricate and troublesome immediate problems might be.

"To outlaw a country is not to make it amenable to world opinion, but the opposite," he said. "Even now you must see that the tone and temper of the agitation are hardening rather than softening the heart of the Russian government and giving it the opportunity of persuading its own people—however erroneously—that this is all a part of the conspiracy of other governments to bring a war against the Soviet government."

Great Britain, the letter concludes, knows quite well that the government is not indifferent to the situation, but that the "only question is what are the facts and what are our opportunities and how can they best be used? It would be the easiest thing in the world to act in such a way as would add to the inflictions which Christians may have to endure. That we shall avoid, whatever the agitation may be."

London, Feb. 24 (A.P.) (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Speaking at the first conference of the B'nai B'rith Order of England, Dr. Moses Gaster, noted rabbi and Jewish scholar, declared that he did not believe one-tenth of all the stories current about the persecution of Judaism in Russia.

"We Jews have learned not to believe all stories circulated," he said. "Those responsible for public opinion should take great heed what they say. I warn our people to be careful and to remember that there are 5,000,000 Jews in Russia."

Contract Marriages Hit by Denver Court

Denver, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The State Supreme Court today condemned marriage by contract, or companionate marriage. The opinion, written by Chief Justice Greeley W. Whitford, condemned a former Denver doctor, Charles M. Duncan, deceased. Duncan entered into an alleged contract with his third wife, the record sets forth, by which they could separate and be divorced by mutual consent with payment to Mrs. Duncan of $100 a year for each year they wer emarried. Less than a year after the marriage they separated, and Mrs. Duncan gave a receipt for $110. Subsequent to that Duncan died and she brought suit against the administrator of the estate for a widow's portion.

Denied a widow's share of the estate in the Denver County Court, Mrs. Duncan received it in the District Court, and the Supreme Court affired the judgment.

HIGH WOOL TARIFF PASSED IN SENATE

Largest Rates in History of Nation Approved by Great Majority.

GEORGE ATTACKS ACTION

With the rayon schedule, he said, the two were the measure's glaring iniquities.

"If Mr. Hoover wishes to succeed himself," he said at one point, "he will hesitate a long time before he will approve the same kind of a tariff bill which sealed Mr. Taft's doom."

The Payne-Aldrich bill approved by former Senator Taft, the Georgian added, was "almost a free trade policy compared with the rates in the present wool schedule."

The Georgian, in discussing his amendment to cut the protective duty on wool yarns, said the increase proposed in the bill was in favor of Senator Grundy (Republican), Pennsylvania, who is a worsted manufacturer. Senator George referred to Senator Grundy as a "lobbyist before he became a member of this body."

Senator Grundy was drawn into the tariff debate for the first time later in the day when Senators Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, and Blaine (Republican independent), Wisconsin, questioned him regarding the effectiveness of the wool tariff. He denied that wool could be purchased cheaper in this country and said the bill levies favored principally the producer instead of the manufacturer.

Grundy Declines to Vote.

As on the first occasion when the increased wool yarn rate was voted upon, Senator Grundy arose when his name was called and said that because of his personal interest in the manufacture of this article he would refrain from voting.

Democrats and Republican independents, whose combination stood generally for higher farm rates and lower industrial duties, lost many of their members in the voting, enabling the Republican regulars to keep intact their high wool levies all along the line.

The first record vote was 56 to 22 against an amendment by Senator George to cut from 34 to 24 cents a pound the bill rate on coarse wools, or those known in the trade as not finer than 44s. The present duty is 31 cents a pound.

Three Republican independents and 19 Democrats voted for the cut, while 11 Democrats and 45 Republican regulars and independents combined against it.

Yard Duty Change Beaten.

Senator George also lost, 45 to 28, in an attempt to place a duty of 40 cents a pound and 40 per cent on yarn valued at more than $1 but not over $1.50 a pound, as compared with 40 cents and 45 per cent in the bill and 36 cents and 40 per cent in the existing law.

By 45 to 27 an amendment by Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, to cut the bill rates on men's, youths' and boys' clothing also was defeated, and when the Kentuckian modified his proposal to provide for smaller cuts this was shouted down without a roll call.

This action left in the bill the combination duties of 33 cents a pound and 45 per cent ad valorem on such clothing valued at not over $4 a pound and 50 cents and 50 per cent on clothing worth over $4 a pound. Existing rates are 30 cents and 45 per cent if under $4 in value and 45 cents and 50 per cent for values exceeding $4.

Senator Thomas' amendment to make all woven fabrics bear wool rates if containing 15 per cent or more of wool by weight carried, 41 to 31, the smallest majority of the day.

MAN'S BODY FOUND IN QUICKLIME CRYPT

Missing Leader of Italians Is Slain and Sealed in Concrete Tomb.

BOOTLEG FEUD BLAMED

Gary, Ind., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The body of Paul Perconti, missing leader of the Unione Siciliana, an Italian organization, was found today hidden in a quicklime crypt, sealed with concrete, under a barn on a farm near Crissman, Ind., ten miles from here. He had been shot to death.

Perconti, believed by authorities to have incurren the enmity of local bootleggers, disappeared from his home last Tuesday. He called his wife by telephone Tuesday afternoon, saying he would be home in half an hour.

He never arrived. That night police received report sof a furious gunfight in the West 21st street district, following which empty cartridges were found scattered in the street. Since Thursday, when Mrs. Perconti asked police to look for her husband, a search, which culminated in the discovery of the body by deputy sheriffs, has been under way.

Tub Provides Clew.

It was the elaborate preparations made to pour the slab of concrete over the crypt which resulted in finding the body, for the deputies came upon a tub in which concrete had been mixed recently, and started a search for recently laid concrete. The time of the cementing operation had been placed as early Sunday, for the tub, deputies said, was not on the premises when they searched the place Saturday.

The deputies found stains of concrete on the barn floor and then discovered the shallow crypt scooped out of the earth beneath the floor of the barn.

The farm is known as the Steve Johnson place and has not been tenanted for several months since a moonshine still was found on the premises.

Gun and Cap Found.

Officials decided to search the farm after a woodsman found a pistol and a blood-stained cap near the place which later were identified as the property of the slain man.

The body will be removed to Valparaiso for an inquest.

Perconti's brother, Joseph, was slain last year in what police said was the outcropping of a feud between alcohol distributors, and his brother John has been sought for two years in connection with the kidnaping of 12-year-old Billy Ranieri, of Chicago, for which Angelo Pettiti is serving a 25-year term in the Joliet, Ill., Prison. Perconti was identified as the driver of the car in which the kidnapers rode when they grabbed the Ranieri child on his way home from school.

Bowlus Sets New U. S. Glider Record

Lindbergh Aid Remains Aloft for More Than Nine Hours.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Harvey Bowlus, who early today set a new American glider record of 9 hours, 5 minutes, 27 seconds, assisted Col. Charles A. Lindbergh this afternoon in the first of a new series of glider tests. Bowlus, although he remained in the air until 2:43 a. m., failed to break the world's record of more than 14 hours held in Germany. He was not prepared to say whether he would try again to beat the German record.

Col. Lindbergh, after flying here from Los Angeles, took the air at Mount Soledad, La Jolla, in a new glider never previously flown. He remained up about a quarter of an hour, soaring about the bluffs at the seashore, then heading northward along the coast.

Bowlus was aided during the early part of his record flight last night by a west wind of 18 to 20 miles velocity, but shortly after 2 a. m. it shifted to the north and finally forced him down. He landed in a roadway about 75 feet from the point where he had taken the air more than nine hours before.

Lauder Continues Work In Spite of Broken Rib

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—That Sir Harry Lauder, theatrical star, proved himself a real trouper by appearing nightly for a full week despite the pain of a fractured rib became known today when he called on Dr. F. W. McNamara, who set the injured member, to report that he was "feeling fine."

The ninth rib of the famous actor's right side was broken a week ago tonight when he slipped in a bathtub while preparing for a Chicago appearance, Dr. McNamara revealed. However, Sir Harry insisted on filling all his engagements. He stopped here for an examination after a number of Wisconsin appearances and begins a week in Indiana tonight.

Own Gun Kills Farmer In Chicken Hawk Chase

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 24.—W. S. Wine, 45, prominent farmer of Shenandoah County, died tonight in Rockingham Memorial Hospital from a bullet wound in his forehead inflicted by the accidental discharge of his rifle while chasing a chicken hawk. Mr. Wine placed his loaded rifle through two fence rails and started to climb the fence. A rail broke, causing the gun to be discharged, the bullet tearing into his skull.

He was a brother of Dr. J. E. Wine, of Harrisonburg, and made his home on the old Wine farm near Forestville. He is unmarried. His mother, Mrs. Rebecca Wine; a sister, Miss Annie Wine, and Dr. Wine survive.

TWO DEATHS MARK CHICAGO CRIME WAR

Detective Is Slain in Attempt to Arrest Man Accused in Robbery.

CITIZENS PLEDGE HELP

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—A detective gave his life in Chicago's fight on crime today, but not before he had sent three bullets into the body of his assailant, wounding the latter probably fatally.

The detective, John J. Ryan, was slain as he struggled with Joseph Fallon, former convict under indictment for robbery. Fallon fled in a taxi after the shooting, but, on the cab driver's directions, he was located in a West Side apartment late today. The man was too weak to resist and was taken to the jail hospital.

Another death was marked up today against the sidewalks of Chicago when Joseph Sarnowski, 23, was killed in a feud clash between Mexicans and Poles.

Otherwise the drive on crime fared both good and bad. Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of the Association of Commerce's "secret" committee, received assurance from one citizen that he would back the battle against rackets to the extent of $100,000. The name of the citizen was revealed.

In the courts police and prosecutors got the short end. George "Red" Barker, alleged racketeer and business agent of the Coal Drivers Union, who is under indictment for gun toting, was discharged on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested a second time Saturday after a long automobile chase. The judge said he should have been booked for speeding and dismissed him.

Alleged Capone Aid Absent.

Jack McGurn, purported machine gunner for Al Capone, and his bodyguard, Tony Accardo, were absent when their cases were called in court on charges of carrying concealed weapons. They have been indicted on the same charges.

Bonds of $1,000 each were ordered forfeited and capiases were issued for their arrest. Had they appeared, they would have been arrested again on the grand jury indictments and forced to furnish bond of $10,000 each. The last time their cases were called in jury court, they twice won a continuance.

The detective killed today was left at the apartment of Joseph Fallon after a number of other police, surrounding the place, had been withdrawn. Fallon had been sought since January 4, when he was indicted on a charge of robbing a grocery store.

As soon as Ryan was left alone, Fallon jumped from a skylight where he had been hiding. Ryan attempted to seize him. They struggled hand to hand and emptied their revolvers at each other. Ryan was shot several times in the body and Fallon received a wound in the leg.

Two women, said to be Fallon's sister and niece, called a taxicab and assisted his escape. Ryan was taken to a hospital where he died shortly after noon.

Another man, Peter Kulick, was seriously wounded in the clash between Poles and Mexicans, in which Sarnowski was killed. The body of the latter was found in the street after the battle. Kulick, who may die, pointed out Alphonia Castellano as the man who stabbed him.

suddenly plunged downward and crashed into a field. It fell 200 feet.

Mr. Patten was dead when his body was removed from the wreckage, but Dr. West lived for several hours. At the hospital it was said both Pilot Ringel's legs had been broken and he suffered other injuries. He was unable to explain the cause of the accident.

Advices from Clearwater said Mrs. Patten swerved her automobile late yesterday to avoid striking another machine on the causeway leading to Clearwater beach. She suffered a broken arm and other injuries which were pronounced not serious.

Mr. Patten, who was president of Southern Fliers, Inc., on being advised of the injury of his wife, last night ordered the ship ready to take off this morning and asked Dr. West to accompany him.

R. H. Hert, of Chattanooga, vice president of Southern Fliers, was in Atlanta and came here at once. He could not explain the cause of the crash. He said Ringel was a first-class pilot. The ship, according to Hert, had a cruising range of 500 miles and had recently been overhauled.

Mr. Patten was one of the wealthiest young men in Tennessee and a member of a socially prominent family. He was the son of Mrs. John A. Patten and the late John A. Patten capitalist and manufacturer.

Dr. West was chief of staff of the Chattanooga Hospital. His father, Dr. George R. West, veteran surgeon, his mother and a brother survive him.

tributions assessed against them, a feature in the Dale bill that is strongly opposed by the President. The maximum annuity would remain at $1,200.

The second amendment provides for a life annuity of $20 for each year of service not exceeding 30 years, and in addition 1 per cent of the annual salary multiplied by the years of service.

"This," said Mr. Alcorn, "would apply equally to every employe and would establish certainty where uncertainty as to the amount of the annuity exists under the new Lehlbach bill. Furthermore, it also meets the President's views by giving higher annuities to those who proportionately contribute more. There is no maximum annuity under this proposal."

The conference expressed disapproval of the tontine and forfeiture features in the new Lehlbach bill.

WOMAN WHO SUES AMSTER HUNTS JOB

Plaintiff in $100,000 Action Leaves Palatial Suite for Charity Cot.

SOCIETY CARES FOR SON

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Olga Eide Edwards, who in the short space of a few weeks had descended from a luxuriously furnished suite in a Fifth avenue hotel to a cot in an institution for homeless girls, placed her 6-year-old son in the care of the Children's Society today, pawned her $800 fur coat for $50, and went out to look for a job.

Until recently Miss Edwards, formerly of Seattle, and her little son, Lee, 6 years old, lived at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel on the income from a trust fund established for Lee by Nathan L. Amster, financier, who said he did it from philanthropic motives.

Declaring that she had failed to live up to the terms of the trust agreement, however, he had her arrested on an extortion charge, and she is now under indictment. Miss Edwards retaliated by charging that Amster is Lee's father and by suing him for $100,000. The suit is pending.

Probably a child less destitute in appearance than Lee never was admitted to the Children's Society shelter. He wore a smart and woolly topcoat, long leather leggings, and an expensive little suit. On his blond head he wore at a jaunty angle a beret of the type worn by upper class children in Paris.

But those clothes were all that Lee owned today. His wardrobe and his mother's were locked up in trunks, held at the Savoy-Plaza and Windsor Hotels for nonpayment of bills.

Holding Lee by the hand, Miss Edwards appeared at a police station Saturday night and said they had been ejected from their hotel and were penniless and hungry. Lee was taken to the Children's Society shelter where, on the mother's plea to children's court today, he will remain temporarily, and Miss Edwards spent the night in a charity home.

Fears Are Entertained For Pilot of Airplane

Los Angeles, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Western Air Express officials today became concerned over the whereabouts of James Doles, a company passenger pilot, who has been missing 24 hours since leaving Kingman, Ariz., Sunday morning.

Pilot Doles and Albert W. Beiber, copilot, flew a chartered plane to Kingman, Ariz., Saturday with a party of Los Angeles persons. They left Kingman at 11:45 a. m., mountain time, Sunday. They were carrying no passengers on the return trip. When they failed to arrive here Sunday night, company officials concluded that storms had forced them down at an emergency field. A check of the fields this morning, however, revealed nothing had been heard from Doles.

Dial Service

THE dial system which will go into service in the downtown section of the city in the Spring uses mechanism which makes it necessary for each telephone number to have four digits. Therefore, all numbers which formerly had less than four digits are now provided with a sufficient number of prefixed zeros to make the necessary four; for example North 11 is now North 0011, or North 333 is now North 0333.

These zeros are just as important as the other digits and whenever you have occasion to call such a number, it will afford you much quicker service and at the same time greatly help the operator if you will give her the complete number exactly as it is listed in the telephone directory.

The zeros are pronounced "OH", so that in asking for North 0011, it should be pronounced "North OH OH ONE ONE".

$15,000 Taken in Holdup at Coral Gables; $12,00 Is Loot in Indianapolis.

$75,000 GEMS STOLEN

Coral Gables, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Two unmasked bandits held up the Bank of Coral Gables shortly after noon today and escaped in an automobile with $15,000 to $20,000.

T. H. Tumlin, cashier, said he noticed one of the bandits standing in the lobby and could identify him. He did not know when he was watching the man that the other bandit was holding up the teller, A. C. Hockaway.

Tumlin said it was apparent that the bandits had watched the bank throughout the morning as they chose the only time the lobby was not crowded since the doors opened at 9 a. m. Only one customer was in the bank when they entered.

Indianapolis, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Forcing two women employes into a vault, two bandits today held up the Fishers National Bank at Fishers, Hamilton County, and escaped with $12,000. The loot included $2,000 in currency and $10,000 in negotiable bonds.

Two bandits entered the bank and ordered Miss Vera Mollenskopf, 18, assistant cashier, and Mrs. Sadie Woods, 21, acting cashier, into a vault, while they scooped up the currency and bonds. A. P. Butz, 49, cashier of the bank, was not in the bank at the time.

The bandits entered an automobile with a third robber, who was standing guard, and escaped.

Cincinnati, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Robbers broke into a safe of the Frank Herschede Jewelry Co. last night and escaped with gems valued at from $75,000 to $100,000, police announced today.

Beaver, Kans., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—First puncturing the tires of all motor cars parked in the business block and while an accomplice held three employes of a nearby garage at bay, two men today robbed the Farmers' State Bank here of $1,252.

All three escaped after locking I. C. Forney, cashier and John Stoskopf, president of the bank, and L. H. Smith, State bank examiner, in the vault.

QUEEN VICTORIA OF SWEDEN.

98 Gallons of Liquor Siezed After Car Chase

Seizure of an automobile laden with 96 gallons of liquor when it was hastily abandoned by its lone occupant on the Bladensburg road at Douglas avenue northeast ended an exciting chase about 9 o'clock last night by Sergt. George M. Little and his squad.

Acting on a tip that a liquor-runner was conveying a sizeable cargo of rum from nearby Maryland, the police posted themselves at the District Line on the Bladensburg road in an automobile. About the appointed hour, the liquor machine sped by. At Douglas avenue several other cars partially blocked the road and the liquor runner jammed on the brakes and made good his escape. The seized liquor and the car were taken to the Sixth Precinct station.

"FIRST A SHADOW, then a sorrow"

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-1882)

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco —The Cream of the Crop—"It's Toasted." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

FEDERAL FINANCING.

President Hoover's move to keep appropriations down to the level of the budget can not be regarded as a retrenchment policy. The President is not asking for drastic economy, but only that the Government live within its means during the coming year. He is to be commended for taking the lead toward this end while the appropriation bills are still before Congress. His plea for teamwork to keep the Government's finances on a sound footing should not go unheeded.

The Government has made its contribution toward continued prosperity in the form of a $160,000,000 tax reduction. In addition it will carry out a tremendous building program as outlined in the budget. There are dozens of other projects, many of them commendable, on which different sections of the country are pressing for action. But these will have to be postponed until some future date. Congress could not appropriate for them at this time without increasing taxes.

The list of proposed extra-budget expenditures prepared by the White House contains many extravagant items which may never be approved by Congress. Included in this is $20,000,000 for eradication of pests, chiefly the Mediterranean fruit fly, $45,000,000 for development of the Columbia River, and $350,000,000 for public roads. Should the Government undertake to carry out all the proposed development and improvement projects taxes would have to be increased 40 per cent.

Added to the tax cut there may be a reduction in Federal revenue this year. A sag in business activity, such as that which followed the stock market collapse, is reflected in the Government's income. The anticipated decrease is not sufficient to cause alarm, and there are no hard times in store for the Government unless Congress should enter upon an orgy of spending. The timely conference at the White House should curtail whatever tendency there has been in Congress to exceed the appropriations recommended in the budget.

Adequate provision is made in the budget for expenditures already authorized by Congress. No work that has legislative approval needs to be held up. If Congress exercises the prudence which the occasion calls for new obligations will be postponed. The Government can provide relief for war veterans and their widows, and make provision for such flood control as will prevent loss of life and serious damage to property. Urgent necessities can be taken care of without putting the Treasury in a precarious position. The President, with the advice of the Budget Bureau, is in a position to appraise the actual needs of the Government. The appropriation committees can help mightily by sidetracking unnecessary projects.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP.

Fifty years ago today a modest establishment, the "Boston Drygoods House," was opened in Washington by two young merchants—S. Walter Woodward and Alvin Mason Lothrop. Their store was located at 705 Market place. They went through the usual vicissitudes of struggling firms, but from the first day's operations they possessed the magic key to success in their fundamental rule of fair dealing. They were men of high principle, intensely devoted to their business, and generous in their realization that when they helped their city they promoted their own success. In 1881, under the now time-honored name of "Woodward & Lothrop," they moved to larger quarters at 921 Pennsylvania avenue, and in 1887 they made their permanent home at Eleventh and F streets. From time to time they built up the emporium that now stands as one of the monuments of American commercial enterprise.

The founders of the firm were leaders in movements for the improvement of Washington. Washington has never had upon its roll of citizens two more honored names than those of S. Walter Woodward and Alvin M. Lothrop. They were generous and public-spirited, and the city gladly recognized their worth and rejoiced in their business success.

The house of Woodward & Lothrop rests upon the solid foundation of character, which commands public confidence and insures prosperity. The Washington Post joins the people of Washington in hearty congratulations and best wishes to the entire personnel of Woodward & Lothrop.

THE SEAT OF JUSTICE.

In vigorous health, with splendid qualifications, and enjoying the confidence of the American people, Charles E. Hughes took the oath of office yesterday and entered upon his duties as Chief Justice of the United States. The malignant assaults in the Senate rebounded harmlessly from the armor of a just and true man. The country rests serene in the knowledge that its court of last resort is the citadel of justice.

Deep sympathy and fervent prayers are offered in behalf of the great soul that is facing the eternal. Worn out in public service, former Chief Justice Taft feebly struggles for survival. He should have had a chance to enjoy at least a few years of rest; but if this boon should be denied, he can go fearlessly forth in the consciousness of work well done. Those who give faithful judgment among men need not fear the Eternal Judge.

NATIONAL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Washingtonians can not fail to encourage the efforts of those behind the new National Symphony Orchestra to give this city an orchestra of its own. One concert has already been given, a second has been definitely announced for early March, and a third is in prospect for April; all three, however, being preliminary to a true symphonic "season" which it is planned to inaugurate next autumn.

There is no real reason why this city should lack that cultural adjunct of most of the larger American communities—a symphony orchestra. The 80 or more musicians composing the National Symphony Orchestra are contributing their art and effort on a wholly cooperative basis, for the purpose of demonstrating the ability of Washington musicians, otherwise employed, to form, of themselves, a capable orchestral unit.

The coming summer is to be devoted to the task of founding, if possible, a permanent endowment for the National Symphony Orchestra, whereby that organization may give weekly or semi-monthly concerts during 1930-31.

Baltimore has successfully supported its own orchestra for more than a dozen years while Pittsburgh, during the present season, has reestablished its symphony orchestra in response to the demand of its music-lovers.

Except for one half-hearted attempt some four years ago, there has been no other movement to give Washington its own orchestra since Heinrich Hammer and Herman Rakeman, in 1913, endeavored to put together the really brilliant Washington Symphony which the late Reginald DeKoven organized and maintained, largely at his own expense, during the first years of the twentieth century. Washington's increased musical population warrants the belief that, with earnest teamwork, success can now be achieved in the permanent organization of an orchestra that would take rank with the best in the world.

OLD AGE RELIEF.

The controversy between the Governor and Legislature of New York over legislation for old age relief will be watched with interest. The action taken at Albany is certain to have a wide influence in other States. All the country is interested in whether New York is to hand out a dole to its aged indigents, or whether it will evolve a comprehensive plan to reduce dependency in old age as well as to care for those who are helpless.

At the request of Gov. Roosevelt a commission to study the subject was created more than a year ago. That commission has now made its report and its recommendations are incorporated in a bill before the Legislature. Gov. Roosevelt has expressed disapproval of the bill, because it contains no provisions to encourage savings among the beneficiaries. A mere dole or pension for the aged, he says, is wrong in principle and bad in practice.

Any measure which would tend to give the impression that citizens of a State may live as recklessly as they please while in the prime of life, secure in the feeling that if they reach old age without means the State will take care of them, is a grave mistake. Social workers long ago discovered that administering charity without removing the causes of poverty can only aggravate conditions. The proper method is to help people to help themselves. The theory is as applicable to old age relief as to any other form of social benefaction.

Gov. Roosevelt would amend the bill in question so that a person who does nothing in earlier life to save against old age would be entitled to only a bare minimum of aid. The governor would make it possible for wage earners to contribute toward increased benefits before they reach the age of dependency. A definite premium, he says, should be placed on savings, giving to the workers an incentive to save based on the prospects of not only food and shelter, but on comfort and a good living standard.

Incidentally Gov. Roosevelt has struck a blow at the measures before Congress to put the Government in the business of pensioning the aged. The Government can not logically place itself in the position of furnishing funds to the States in a way that would discourage thrift and self-reliance. The States are in a position to handle old age relief in a constructive way, but the Federal Government is not.

FILIPINOS IN CONVENTION.

Discussion of Philippine independence has shifted for the time being from Washington to Manila, where an independence congress is in session. Filipino delegates have met together to consider the economic, political and international factors involved in separation of the islands from the United States.

In this congress the Filipinos have an opportunity to demonstrate their grasp of the subject. Heretofore the question of independence has been approached chiefly from the idealistic viewpoint. Eloquent spokesmen have pleaded for freedom and discounted the economic consequences. Now that the discussion in Washington has brought out the far-reaching economic questions which must be decided before independence can be granted, this Filipino congress might well get down to business.

To begin with, it might consider the report that has recently been transmitted to Congress from Gov. Gen. Davis. Let the gathering read the meaning of his statement that imports to the islands would fall off 37 or 38 per cent if independence were granted, and that the value of exports would drop from 310,000,000 to 191,000,000 pesos. Even these estimates, Gov. Gen. Davis says, do not take into consideration the tremendous decrease in Philippine government revenue, the effect of such decreases on various lines of business, the probable labor troubles which would result from the inevitable lowering of wages, and the elimination of many active industries employing labor, all in consequence of independence.

Are the Filipinos ready to face these facts? If they persist in ignoring the fundamental issue on which their fate will turn, they thereby demonstrate their incapability of maintaining independence.

A PLAN FOR LIMITING NAVAL ARMAMENTS

By COMMANDER H. H. FROST,
United States Navy.

The London conference has completed its first task. Tactful leadership has induced each nation to state its position—its hopes, its wishes and its demands.

The task of reconciling these conflicting national aspirations remains. This may be attempted by discussing and deciding in turn each conflict of interests. We fear that this may lead to a series of disconnected debates between the two nations most directly interested—Great Britain against France, United States against Japan, or France against Italy—each delegation endeavoring to schedule its controversies as late as possible on the program.

Another method is to consider the problem as a whole and let all delegations offer simultaneous concessions. This permits not only compromises on individual points, but also a general all-around trading of concessions. To illustrate what might be accomplished by this method of mutual and simultaneous concessions we have developed a concrete proposal.

This proposal is based primarily upon allotments of standard tonnage for six types of combatant ships, as shown in the table below. The five provisions of the proposal, which would be effective until December 31, 1936, follow:

1. Any nation having a total in any type above the allotted total must scrap sufficient vessels to get within it, except that France may retain nine battleships, about 186,000 tons, until she completes a new capital ship.

2. Every combatant vessel of the six types limited, without regard to age, counts against the nation's total tonnage of her type; except that obsolete vessels transferred by the navy to other government activities may be eliminated from the count if assurance is given that they will not be used for war purposes. British and French cruisers mounting 7.5-inch guns and obsolete United States and Japanese cruisers mounting 8-inch guns will count as 8-inch or 6-inch cruisers, as each nation elects.

3. Cruisers may be eliminated from a nation's count by scrapping twenty years after their completion; destroyers after sixteen years, submarines after thirteen years, and aircraft carriers after twenty years, except that carriers built or building on November 12, 1921, may be scrapped without regard to age. After the immediate scrapping of five capital ships by Great Britain, three by the United States and one by Japan to come within the allotted totals no further capital ships will be eliminated by scrapping except three French battleships of the Voltaire class and one of the Courbet class and the old Italian 10-inch battleships.

4. Any nation now under its allotted total in any type may build vessels to reach that total. Any nation which may in the future come under its allotted total by authorized scrapping may build again to that total. No vessels will be built or modernized to exceed 35,000 tons for capital ships, 27,000 tons for aircraft carriers, 10,000 tons for 8-inch cruisers, 9,000 tons for 6-inch cruisers, 2,600 tons for destroyers and 1,800 tons for submarines. No new capital ship will be smaller than 20,000 tons. Destroyers are limited to 6-inch guns, submarines to 5-inch.

5. Subject to foregoing restrictions, any vessel may be modernized at will, except that the number and size of main battery guns shall not be increased.

In formulating this proposal concessions and compromises were made as follows:

United States: 1. Gives up claim to new battleships. 2. Accepts reduction of 8-inch cruisers to eighteen. 3. Allows Great Britain to count four modern 7.5-inch cruisers as 6-inch cruisers. 4. Gives Great Britain an advantage of 12,000 tons in cruisers. 5. Compromises with Japan on a 10-6.5 ratio in 6-inch cruisers. 6. Gives Japan a 10-7 ratio in destroyers. 7. Allows Japan parity in submarines. 8. Reduces aircraft carrier tonnage to 120,000.

Great Britain: 1. Gives up its temporary advantage in capital ships permitted by the Washington Conference. 2. Gives the United States three more 8-inch cruisers. 3. Allows France to build about 65,000 tons of new capital ships and increases the ratio with France to 10-3.7. 4. Concedes France 330,000 tons of cruisers and destroyers combined, the total which France demanded at the Washington Conference. 5. Compromises with France on 70,000 tons of submarines. 6. Allows 6-inch cruisers to be as large as 9,000 tons (to suit the United States) and destroyers 2,600 tons (to suit France). 7. Allows destroyers to carry 6-inch guns (to suit France).

Japan: 1. Accepts the 10-6 ratio in 8-inch cruisers with the United States.

France: 1. Compromises with Great Britain on eight 8-inch cruisers. 2. Concedes Italy parity in subamrines. 3. Lets Italy build 85,000 tons of capital ships. 4. Compromises with Italy on cruisers and destroyers.

Italy: 1. Concedes the principle of absolute parity with France. 2. Accepts totals to which she can hardly build.

In judging the fairness of such a proposal it must be considered as a whole. Each nation must consider the advantages it gains as well as the concessions it makes. In balancing these weight must be given to the manifest advantage to all in economy and good will. An agreement along the above lines would stop competitive building for six years; decrease the totals of modern ships now already built or authorized by the United States, Great Britain and Japan; eliminate many obsolete ships not included in these totals, and defer the costly replacement of capital ships. To these economies must be added a marked increase in international good will, which will go far toward insuring a continuance of peace among the great powers.

A table showing the proposed allotment of standard tons and consequent ratios is appended:

Would Excuses Be Acceptable If the Insurance Company Couldn't Pay?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN automobiles were new and mysterious, garage men "got away with murder" because the owner of a car didn't know whether a repair job should cost ten cents or ten dollars.

A similar freedom to enjoy unreasonable advantages characterizes every trade and profession that keeps itself a mystery to the public.

Within the last five years, hundreds of banks in the South and West have "failed."

Millions of depositors have been stripped of their savings or their working capital.

Apologists have attributed these tragedies to hard times, deflation, overproduction, crop failures, speculation.

But no explanation is acceptable to those who lost their money, and no explanation can excuse a violation of trust.

A passenger boat may sink because of leaks or shifting cargo, but nothing less than "an act of God" can excuse the captain to whom the passengers entrusted their lives.

People entrust their money to a bank because they are given a tacit pledge of safety; and nothing can excuse the bank's failure to fulfill that pledge.

The banker who washes his hands of responsibility and cheerfully "passes the buck" when he bankrupts those who trusted him is like a ship's captain who saves himself while passengers drown.

Banking laws fail to protect depositors because they are made to please bankers, and laymen who venture to protest are berated and ridiculed.

"This is a sacred and mysterious business," says the banker, "and your poor lay mind can't comprehend its infinite technicalities."

Yet the bankers I have known are no more brilliant than dentists, printers and Congressmen.

True, laws passed by "radicals" to guarantee bank deposits have uniformly failed, but that doesn't prove that guaranteed safety is economically unsound.

When divisions of government deposit money, they usually require that it be bonded.

Why not bond all bank deposits?

Perhaps there aren't enough bonding companies to handle the business; but there were no credit corporations to protect installment sales a few years ago, and yet necessity brought them into existence and they have made fat profits.

One per cent would insure deposits—ten thousand dollars on the million; and if the banks can't bear the whole burden, depositors would gladly accept one per cent less interest to get absolute protection.

There is a way if there is a will; and until the way is found, millions of dollars that should be in circulation to benefit us all will remain in old socks under the mattress.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LAMENT OF THE FLORIDA TOURIST.

I met a man in Florida
A guest of sev'ral weeks;
He sat upon a hotel porch
And tears rolled down his cheeks.

The tears they ran in rivulets
Till none remained to shed;
"Oh, why so sad?" I asked the man
And this is what he said:

"I am a fairly well-known man
And great is my distress;
I'm yet to land a fish to suit
The photographic press.

"I've fished and fished and fished and fished
For what has seemed an age
But I am yet to see myself
Upon a picture page.

"The biggest fish I've caught has weighed
But 30 pounds or so,
A little minnow, as it were,
Not big enough to show.

"Today I got a tuna fish
But, oh, alas, alack!
The photo demons said 'Too small,
You'd better throw it back!'

"It only measured four feet eight
And so the picture men
Refused to take our photograph—
Their limit's five feet ten.

"The folks back home must be upset;
It was their hope and wish
That I would get my photo in
The papers with a fish.

"Complete indeed is my disgrace,
I feel misfortune's touch,
For men unphotographed down here
Just don't amount to much.

"Bill Jenks, the banker, made page one,
My butcher made page three;
My druggist made the Sunday Times,
But no such luck for me.

"All doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs
In Florida today
Have had their pictures taken in
The good old-fashioned way.

"But my vacation's over now—
My shame I'll never hide:
The only visitor unsnapped
With fresh fish by his side!"

DO YOU REMEMBER—

Away back when people who wanted whisky thought it would be necessary to get a doctor's prescription?

When poeple didn't call them "scanties?"

When every nice girl got home as early as 2 a. m.?

A Westinghouse engineer has invented a device for catching burglars by violet ray. When the burglar crosses the ray an alarm is automatically touched off. Thus the violet ray detects the robber's presence, notifies the police and presumably gives him an artificial sunburn.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

If You Know the Guilty Ones, Senator, You Must Squeal on Them or Be Guilty of a Felony.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Brookhart, who was recently elected to honorary membership in the Polecat Club, has stated that he only knows two or three senators who drink liquor in their offices.

Naturally senators and others are not offering him any drinks.

But why has he not turned in the names of these senators to the district attorney, the prohibition unit, grand jury, &c., in order that prompt and proper raids can be made on the offices of these senators?

According to judicial decisions, Senator Brookhart becomes a felon by having guilty knowledge of a felony and taking no action. He ought to be given five years.

And the board of governors should expel him from membership in the Polecat Club. N. B. HERMAN.

Old-Timer Muses on the Lure of Gold, and Wishes He Could Join the Latest Rush.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Decades ago the discovery of gold lured many a man from his home and family. The yellow metal seems to possess hypnotic power. The latest gold strike was made a few days ago in Poorman, Alaska, and all the men in the vicinity went out in weather at 40 degrees below zero to stake their claims.

Old-time gold miners endured great hardships compared with the experiences of the present day miner, who is aided by machinery and has the radio to keep him in touch with the world. Gold always has drawn the adventuresome man, and the discovery of new diggings will continue to draw men as long as they are red-blooded. I don't know the reason for the lure that gold possesses, but I'd like to join the boys who are opening up the bonanza in Alaska.

OLD-TIMER.

People Not Excited Over Eighteenth Amendment—Not Pleased With Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The best sign that I can give that prohibition is being enforced is that so many of the monied men, our "big men" of the country, are beginning to "holler" and find fault with the eighteenth amendment. Now their own basements and refrigerators are getting empty, so they are making a "holler." You hardly ever hear of any of the working men complaining or finding fault with the eighteenth amendment.

What the labor people want is more work and less scrapping about the eighteenth amendment. All of this fuss with the prohibition act is just to find a political issue for the coming campaign, to get the people excited. You will always find the congressmen and senators from wet States are wet, those from dry States are dry.

The people seem satisfied with the eighteenth amendment, but they are not satisfied with our congressmen and senators and what they are doing at Washington, D. C. We all do have sympathy with the President.

How Paris Deals With the Parking Problem—A Hint to Washington.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A new automobile parking system has been adopted in Paris which is said to be working well. Cars must now be parked in certain carefully controlled grounds around the public squares, and along the broader avenues and other open spaces, where parking fees are charged at the more desirable points.

The fee is so small that motorists can easily afford to pay it. The rate is based upon 45 centimes per hour, which in American money would amount to about 2 cents. Parking for eight hours amounts to 16 cents. An attendant at each parking district checks the cars in and out.

There is very little complaint under the new system. Parking zones have been established on the broad Place de la Concorde and in the lesser nearby Place Vendome, as well as at many other points controlled by the municipality.

The tram and autobus companies report that the new system has proved a great help toward lessening the time it takes to make their circuit. Prefect of Police Chiappe has been congratulated for the success of this new system. Washington might profit by adopting such a system.

TYRANT FASHION.

Dame Fashion rules them one and all
And pays no heed to scorn,
The dress which she decides shall be,
Will be the dress that's worn.
And short or long, or high or low,
With furbelows or plain
They'll wear them as she says they must,
And argument is vain.
Her's is the tyranny of taste; to her
The world must bow,
The skirts which once they laughed about the girls are wearing now.

They looked at mother's photograph
And chuckled in their glee,
Such curious sleeves, such funny skirts, such awful waists to see.
That mother was a stylish maid they couldn't quite believe
For who would wear a dress like that with such a bulging sleeve?
But old Dame Fashion bides her time
And heeds not what they say.
Those trailing skirts they laughed about they proudly wear today.

Dame Fashion never answers back
Her work to justify,
She knows whatever she displays the world will rush to buy.
And should they sneer at fashion's old, as youth is quick to do,
She's apt to start those fads again
And make them like them, too.
But little time for ridicule to mortals she'll allow,
The trailing skirts they laughed about the girls are wearing now.

WORLD IS ENCIRCLED AS CHAMBER DINES

Messages Are Sent to 15 Places and Replies Read During Luncheon.

OFFICIAL MAKES TALK

During the course of a luncheon meeting yesterday at the City Club the Washington Chamber of Commerce sent fifteen radio messages to various cities of the world and ships at sea and received answers to all the dispatches before the last course had been served.

The occasion marked the first demonstration in Washington of communication by cable, land wire and radio. Places to which messages were sent included Paris, Havana, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Manila, Shanghai ,Valparaiso and London. During the interim between the sending and receiving of the messages, a talk was made by Col. A. H. Griswold, executive vice president of the Postal Telegraph Cable Co. and vice president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. Col. Griswold spoke on the part radio should play in the commercial world.

An electrically operated map behind the speaker's table served as a guide to the places where the radio messages were being received. The messages were sent and received by a corps of young women operators from the Postal Telegraph Co.

Tear Gas Bombs Rout 300 Jobless Miners

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Feb. 24 (A.P.). Three hundred idle miners who attempted a march on the Powhatan mine, near Bellaire, today were routed by tear gas bombs thrown by 30 special deputy sheriffs under Sheriff Ford Moore. The miners walked out three weeks ago in protest against a 10 per cent reduction in wages and several demonstrations have been staged at the mine which is under guard of the deputies.

The miners had marched within a few feet of the guards before they were discovered, because of a dense fog. The gas bombs exploded in the center of the column and the marchers dispersed in confusion.

The Listening Post

—By CARLISLE BARGERON—

THERE is a sincerity, indeed, an intensity of purpose behind this organized movement of women to repeal the eighteenth amendment that should call for the closest scrutiny of the W. C. T. U. These women are not simply out on a lark. They are crusading just as did those women who put the amendment in the Constitution in the first place.

And there is just as much fervency in their cause.

Those earlier women were tired of having their husbands come home of a Saturday night minus his pay envelope; they were tired of his flopping exhausted across a bed.

They wanted to get him into the kitchen to help out. Now right there is the genesis of the woman's movement to tear the amendment from the books. The W. C. T. U. got the husbands into the kitchen. These modern wives want to get them out.

• • • •

"GET the husbands out of the deed, be their slogan, shout-kitchen," might well, ined from the housetops and sung from the corner soap box and pitched to the tunes of hymns as were the cries "Get them out of the saloon" in the old days.

It is a problem. There is no doubt about that. There has been an increasing migration of men to the kitchen for the past several years and with the narrowing of the kitchens to kitchenette size they have often given the impression of sardines in a can.

There is nothing artistic about a kitchen either. It has never been associated with a library where man could commune with the masters and fortify himself against life ahead. It is not a place where one would expect fine tapestries or a painting by Sargent. A grease smeared calendar is usually the only trapping on the wall.

• • • •

YET it is in the kitchen nowadays, the prosaic, unromantic, smoke-stained old kitchen, that the Nation's thought is being shaped. It is there that some of the world's greatest debates are taking place, those unrecorded clashes of wit which go so far in fashioning a people's destiny.

It is there that great questions of economics, of morals, of religion are being argued; where the disputatious efforts of men reach their high pitch.

And these perspicacious women who are in the drive to repeal the eighteenth amendment realize that they are being left out, that all of this talk about the women having been taken into the councils of men is but pure bunk.

• • • •

EVERY night, in every town, there are these great treks of men toward these new temples of thought. They drop their women in the living room to talk with other women as they pass through, and on into the kitchen they go as if being swallowed up by some secret cave.

And there they remain beside the icebox, heedless of any importunities that may come from without. At the end of four hours they reappear, their faces beaming with satisfaction and contentment of life.

And the sheer complacency of them is enough to make a woman scream as they say: "Honey, we must be going. Haven't we had a good time?"

Man Killed in Chicago Mexican-Polish Clash

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—One man was killed and another wounded, probably fatally, in a street fight between Mexican and Polish colony members today. Twenty-five Mexicans were rounded up after the body of Joseph Sarnowski, 23, was found in the street. Peter Kulick had stab wounds which were expected to result fatally.

Alponia Castellano, one of those arrested, was pointed out by Kulick as the man who stabbed him. The feud, which has been of long standing, was renewed early today, Kulick said.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 23.

Taxpayers who make casual sales of personal property for a price exceeding $1,000, or sell real property, on the deferred-payment plan, may use the installment method when computing the tax on the profits derived from such sales if the initial payments made during the year do not exceed 40 per cent of the selling price.

Persons who elect to use this method pay each year only the tax on the proportion of the installment payments received during the year which represents a profit, instead of paying the tax on the total profit to be realized. To illustrate, a taxpayer sells a piece of real estate in 1929 for $9,000 which cost him $6,000, and the purchaser agrees to pay $3,000 each year. In this case the tax on the profit of $3,000 could spread over the three years; that is, one-third of each installment payment of $3,000, or $1,000, would be taxable the year received.

HIGHEST COURT HITS PRIMARY FUND GIFTS

Members of Congress May Be Prosecuted for Accepting Office Holders' Money.

WURZBACH TRIAL NEAR

(Associated Press.)

Members of Congress were declared by the Supreme Court yesterday to be liable to prosecution under the corrupt practices act when they accept money from office holders in their primary campaigns.

The question reached the highest tribunal in an appeal by the Government after it had failed in the western district of Texas in proceedings against Representative Wurzbach, Republican, of that State. He had been indicted for accepting contributions from office holders in his primary campaign for renomination. Representative Wurzbach recently was awarded a seat in the House as a result of a contest with his Democratic opponent, Augustus McCloskey.

The effect of the decision yesterday will be to force the Texas representative to go to trial on the indictment.

The opinion was written by Justice Holmes, and no dissent was announced. It stated that "Congress may provide that its officers and employes neither shall exercise nor be subjected to pressure for money for political purposes, upon or by others of their kind, while they retain their office or employment. Neither the Constitution nor the nature of the abuse to be checked requires us to confine the ell-embracing words of the act to political purposes within the control of the United States."

Two Die as Plane Hits Cow in Making Landing

Great Falls, Mont., Feb. 24 (A.P.). Henry B. Lorentz, 33, and E. C. Smith, both of Great Falls, were killed when their plane crashed in a field 11 miles west of Stanford, Mont., yesterday, it was learned today. The two men were returning from Cleveland, Ohio.

The wrecked plane and the bodies were discovered by George McKenna, a farmer. Indications were that the plane was wrecked in trying to make a landing and had struck a cow.

The shooting occurred late Sunday on Jim Bissette's farm near Bailey. Bud Bissette was brought to Wilson today. He waived preliminary hearing.

Detroit Police Disperse Group of Unemployed

Detroit, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—A group of 250 unemployed men, augmented by nearly 1,800 passers-by, made a demonstration in front of City Hall at 10 a. m. today before being dispersed by police.

The crowd was good-natured and carried no banners. There were no speeches, and the gathering broke up when City Hall police, assisted by reserves, appeared on the scene. A guard of ten mounted policemen was ordered maintained at the City Hall for the remainder of the day.

Grito de Baire Is Celebrated By Cubans

Embassy Is Scene of Fete Recalling Fight for Freedom.

By JEAN ELIOT.

"GRITO DE BAIRE," was celebrated with a dinner at the Cuban Embassy last night —"the cry of Baire," that remote little town in Cuba, where the insurgents met on February 24, 1895, and where the first blow was struck for Cuba's release from Spanish domination. Cuba's actual Day of Independence falls on May 20 and freedom was not actually achieved until after several years of fighting, with the United States involved as her champion in war with Spain. But "Grito de Baire" is an anniversary dear to Cuban hearts and especially memorable to the present Ambassador of Cuba to the United States, Senor Don Orestes Ferrara, who was himself a revolutionary.

A native of Italy, Senor Ferrara went to Cuba as a youth. His sympathies went out at once to the insurgents and he fought his way through the revolution with great distinction. Ever since he has played an important role in the political development of his adopted land.

Chiefs of missions of the Latin American republics were guests of the Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara at this anniversary celebration last night, their company for dinner including the Ambassador of Peru, Dr. Hernan Velarde, who has recently succeeded to the post of dean of the Diplomatic Corps; the Ambassador of Brazil, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral, the Minister of Uruguay and Senora de Varela, the Minister of Venezuela and Senora de Grisanti, the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina, the Minister of Costa Rica, Senor Don Manuel Castro Quesada, the Minister of Nicaragua and Senora de Sacasa, the Minister of Honduras and Senora de Argueta.

Also the Charge d'Affaires of Argentina and Senora de Enciso, Charge d'Affaires of Mexico and Senora de Campos Ortiz, Charge d'Affaires of Salvador and Senora de Leiva, Charge d'Affaires of Haiti, M. Raoul Lezaire; Charge d'Affaires of Paraguay and Senora de Ynsfran, Charge d'Affaires of Colombia, Senor Jose M. Coronado; Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Dr. and Mrs. Gil Borges, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Munro, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Owen Kuhn, Mr. Walter Thurston, Mrs. J. E. Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Louis de Bethart, Dr. and Mrs. Jose Baron, Dr. and Mrs. Pedro Capote, Mme. de Sanchez Latour, Mme. de Fernandez Silva, Senorita Angela Castro Quesada, Senorita Grisanti, Senorita Adele Varela and Miss Meta Morris Evans.

Although he speaks Spanish fluently, of course, and also English, it was his native tongue, Italian, which Senor Ferrara chose for his fine book on "Machiavelli," which is being much discussed. He has, however, written in English a little volume, "The Private Correspondence of Machiavelli," which presumably has more American readers than the more imposing volume.

Mrs. Ross Is Hostess At Dinner for Sister.

Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming, gave a dinner last evening at the Mayflower in honor of her sister, Mrs. George Taylor, of Memphis, who with Mrs. Ross, arrived in Washington on Saturday from New York. Mrs. Ross's guests were Senator and Mrs. John B. Kendrick, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Senator David I. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Mondell, Mrs. J. TINKHAM FILES PLEA IN $6,000,000 ACTION

Representative Seeks Right to Intervene in Suit on Rail Bonds.

OTHER PETITIONS PEND

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Charges that William T. Kemper, of Kansas City, Mo., Democratic national committeeman for Missouri, used his post as receiver of the bankrupt Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad Co. to profit by more than $6,000,000 at the expense of security holders, were brought to light today in Federal court.

The charges were revealed by the filing of a motion on behalf of Representative George H. Tinkham, of Boston, and his two sisters, for the right to intervene as plaintiffs in a suit against Kemper brought in the court a year ago by Dr. James C. Ayer, a New York physician, and others.

The original complaint, which was filed in the State supreme court but later transferred to the Federal court because of its interstate character, charged that Kemper withheld knowledge of the pending sale of the railroad and of its generally improved financial condition and bought up the two-year 6 per cent gold notes—the road's only security issue, which were defaulted in April, 1916—for 10 to 25 cents on the dollar.

Sold Securities, Charge.

Then, it was charged, Kemper sold the securities and with them control of "The Orient System" to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe System.

The petition of Representative Tinkham and his sisters, Mrs. Rebecca W. Cramer, of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Madeline T. Miller, of Chicago, was filed by Arthur M. Wickwire, who also is attorney for Dr. Ayer. Mr. Wickwire is associated with Thomas H. Ray, of Boston, attorney for a number of joint plaintiffs in the original action. A majority of them are members of the Ayer family.

Included in Plaintiffs.

These include Harold D. Corey, Rosalind Wood, Cornelius A. Wood, William M. Wood, jr., Katherine Ayer Merrill, Junius Beebe, Charles F. Ayer, Frederick Ayer, jr., and Louis Ayer Holloway, all of Boston, and Beatrice Ayer Patton, of Brookline, Mass. All of them at one time were holders of the notes and sold them within the last few years, it was alleged, at a fraction of their actual worth as shown by the Santa Fe's purchase.

Representative Tinkham's intervention plea is based on the statement that he and his sisters jointly owned $10,000 worth of gold notes which they sold for $1,166.67. Dr. Ayer, the owner of $24,000 worth, sold his for $6,000, the complaint sets forth.

SHORTER WEEK SEEN BY BUILDING TRADES

Five-Day Basis Planned for Workers in District by May 1, Is Report.

NEW SCHEDULE IN SIGHT

Practically the entire building trades in the District of Columbia will be operating on a five-day-week basis by May 1, it was revealed yesterday when the bricklayers, carpenters and ironworkers organizations announced that the short week would be put into effect here at that time.

Coincidentally, the bricklayers announced that demands have been made upon the builders for a new wage scale which, while it will add $1 daily to their pay, under the five-day program, would reduce the weekly earnings of bricklayers $1.50. It is thought, however, that this new wage scale will be temporary, and followed during the current year by additional demands for higher pay.

The bricklayers now are receiving $13 per day for a 44-hour week; they demand $14 daily for a 40-hour week.

Other New Wage Scale.

The ironworkers and carpenters are understood also to be working out new wage scales to be presented to the builders to provide for the shorter week, but their figures are not yet available. At present, the ironworkers are paid $1.65 per hour for a 44-hour week, while the carpenters get $1.25.

Little, if any, opposition to the new hour schedule is expected to be made by the building trades employers, who point out that "there is no way to force the men to work on Saturdays; if they say they will work only five days a week, there is nothing we can do about it."

It is anticipated, too, that the present new wage scale proposals will be accepted by the builders without much opposition. One employer pointed out that under the present system, with most of the trades groups already on a five-day basis, the work done by the remaining groups in the short day Saturday is negligible, so that even at the higher hourly wage, the short week probably will result in economy for the builders by suspending all operations over the week-end.

Saturday Working Plans.

It was emphasized, however, that establishment of a universal five-day week throughout the building trades here will not mean that all work will be stopped on Saturday.

It will merely mean that additional overtime pay will be drawn by all employes who work in the building trades on Saturday, as, for instance, on emergency jobs.

Among building workers already working on the five-day basis here are plasterers, plumbers, electricians, steam fitters, painters, asbestos workers, elevator constructors, lathers, hod carriers, sheet metal workers and excavators.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Quite innocently one may lay himself open to the charge of being a hit-and-run driver unless he knows the correct procedure in accident cases under the District of Columbia traffic regulations.

Apparently there are many who think their first duty in event of a mishap is to report the occurrence to the nearest police precinct station. That is not correct, and by leaving the scene to go to the police the driver may lay himself open to a serious charge. The regulations require that drivers involved in an accident stop and give their names and addresses to some one at the scene. However minor the mishap, this process of identifying oneself is required.

Example: A driver bumps another car slightly. He is certain no damage could have been done and drives on his way. If the man whose car was bumped is disposed to do so, he can place a charge of leaving the scene without making his identity known against the other driver.

CONCERT OF BLIND VIOLINIST PLEASES

Abraham Haitowitsch With Alfred Oswald Heard by Large Audience.

JOINT RECITAL AT HOTEL

A representative audience heard Abraham Haitowitsch, blind violinist, and Alfred Oswald, pianist, in a joint recital at the Hotel Mayflower yesterday afternoon.

The violinist proved to be an adequate interpreter of the classics, and produced a mellow, sustained tone from his instrument, brilliant and rich in color and possessed of the acme of violinistic art.

Technique and skill in playing difficult passages distinguished his rendition of Beethoven's "Romance." In Bach's "Air on G String" he showed a splendid command of that type of playing, while he sustained his part in the sonata for piano and violin by Cesar Franck, in which he was ably assisted by Alfredo Oswald, pianist.

Mr. Oswald displayed considerable virtuosity on the piano and his singing tone was of special excellence.

Among the other numbers on the program Mr. Haitowitsch played acceptably were selections by such noted composers as Tschaikowsky, Valdez, Sarasat, Rimsky Korsakoff and Saint-Saens.

ACHIEVEMENT!

Since You Read this CHALLENGE on November 14th, 1929 An Army of American Motorists has Changed to CONOCO

Germ-Processed Motor Oil

The Seven Claims in Conoco's Challenge that Brought this Amazing Public Acceptance of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil

1 Combines with metal surfaces and never leaves bearings and other working parts, due to its "PENETRATIVE LUBRICITY." That means Constant Lubrication.

2 Refined from carefully selected paraffin base crudes by patented processes. That means stability and low oxidation and evaporation.

3 Positively increases gasoline mileage by reducing friction. That means economy.

4 Will not break down under intense cylinder wall heat. That means decreased oil consumption.

5 Substantially reduces motor wear in starting because this oil penetrates metal surfaces. Other oils require 15 to 20 minutes to reach all moving parts. Conoco Germ-Processed Oil prevents the 40% to 60% of motor wear that engineers agree would otherwise occur.

6 Crankcase dilution does not seriously impair its "oiliness" value. That means greater motor protection.

7 Will lubricate efficiently at sub-zero temperatures. That means thoroughly de-waxed oil.

Have you noticed that Conoco stations have been busier in the past few months? The reason is, of course, that amazing new oil, Conoco Germ-Processed.

Introduced only last November, this revolutionary motor lubricant has startled even its makers by its instant public acceptance. At times it was difficult to complete refinery runs in time to supply demands from distant districts.

There's a moral for you in this wholesale change of oil-buying habits by the motoring public. Everyone realizes now that something happened in the motor oil business when this new oil was announced. When you start using this oil you'll realize the truth of our statements that a new age in lubrication began with the Germ Process.

By providing more economical car operation, by guaranteeing a radical reduction in motor wear, and particularly, by penetrating metal surfaces and providing constant lubrication under every conceivable operating condition . . . Conoco Germ-Processed oil sets up a new gauge of motor oil merit.

Only Conoco has the right to make Germ-Processed oil in North America. No other oil on the American market can offer you these advantages.

We firmly believe that you will buy no other oil except Conoco Germ-Processed oil after using it for a fair period of time. Won't you make that trial to-day? Every station bearing the Red Triangle is now prepared to serve you.

UTILITY COMPANIES EXPLAIN CHEST GIFT

Assessing Consumers for Charities Is Justified, Firms Declare.

ANOTHER RULE SOUGHT

Officers of the Community Chest and officers of the public utilities companies yesterday told the Public Utilities Commission that it was entirely proper for the utilities companies to assess consumers the amounts they professedly gave to charity.

The question was raised at a public hearing held by the commission on the proposed new accounting rules prepared by the commission. One of the rules is that utilities companies may contribute as much as they want to charities, but their contributions must come from their profits and not from the pockets of their consumers.

It is the practice of the companies to charge contributions as an "operating expense," which means that the amounts so contributed are charged off before the companies begin to compute their rate of return on the valuation which is the basis of the rates they charge consumers for their services. The Community Chest representatives and the company officers insisted that this was proper, George P. Hoover, counsel for the companies, going so far as to tell the commission that in his opinion neither the president nor the board of directors of a utilities corporation would be justified in giving anything to charity if they had to take the contribution out of the profits of their company.

The hearing was a rather technical affair, with intricate discussions about the technicalities of accounting, the principles which should govern it and the various ramifications of the effect of one treatment of an item in contrast with a different treatment of the same item in the accounts.

One of the other major points on which all the company representatives seemed united in protest was the proposed new rule that reserves accumulated out of operating income by the companies should be used solely for the purposes for which they were accumulated and accumulations should be exhausted before additional funds were set aside for the same purpose. The company representatives contended that the commission rule was entirely too inelastic and might cause them serious embarrassment.

Among those who testified were William F. Hamm, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Potomac Electric Power Co.; John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co.; E. D. Merrill, president of the Washington Rapid Transit Co.; Mr. Hoover, for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.; H. C. Gretz, general auditor of the telephone company, and James A. Councilor, accountant, of Councilor & Buchanan, who was put on the stand by the companies as an expert witness. S. R. Bowen, vice president and general counsel of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., conducted the examination of Mr. Councilor. Several representatives of the Community Chest also appeared.

F. A. Johnson Rites Set for Tomorrow

Former Representative of Western Newspaper Dies Here.

Frederick A. Johnson, former Washington newspaper correspondent, who died yesterday at his home, 3422 Holmead place, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Rock Creek Cemetery following services at 2 o'clock at his late home.

Mr. Johnson was for many years Washington representative of the St. Paul Dispatch, the Minneapolis Tribune, and other papers in the Northwest. After his early years in Washington newspaper work he was connected with various members of the Minnesota congressional delegations and was special clerk to the Senate committee investigating the Taft-Roosevelt campaign expenditures of 1912.

Later he became connected with the Internal Revenue Bureau and remained in that service until shortly before his death.

In addition to his widow he is survived by a son, Maj. Gerald A. Johnson, U. S. M. C., Fort Benning, Ga., and two daughters, Mrs. James L. Wright and Mrs. Bathurst L. Chambliss, both of Washington.

Cleveland Rabbi to Talk At City's Jewish Center

One of the most noted speakers of the entire National Forum Course of Events for 1930, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland, will speak tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the Jewish Community Center, when the subject under discussion, "Is Judaism Adequate for the Modern Man?" will reveal an age-old religion in a new light.

Rabbi Silver is essentially "a modern prophet of youth," and the subject he has chosen is that which is raging in many religious circles between fundamentalist and modernists of the present day. He will be introduced by Charles A. Goldsmith, treasurer of the Jewish Community Center, who will preside at the forum meeting. The event is under the auspices of the educational committee of the center.

Girl Bride Files Annulment Plea

Clara A. Smith Says She Was Forced Into Marriage at Age of 15.

Declaring that her marriage to George A. Smith, of 1114 F street northeast, a week after she was 15 years old, was not her voluntary act but was because of "the domination of her mind by her parents," Clara A. Smith, a minor, of 316 A street northeast, through James Edward Shea, as next friend, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her an annulment.

The young bride, who says she was born January 5, 1913, tells the court that she was taken to Prince Frederick, Md., by her parents on January 12, 1928, and "by reason of threats, undue influence and duress, as well as fear, she was required to go through the form of marriage" with Smith. She alleges that the marriage followed some arrangement made between her parents, Smith and Smith's parents.

The girl asserts further that the act did not and does not now represent her true feelings and desires. She states that immediately after the ceremony she returned to Washington with her parents and that her husband went to his home. She declares the marriage has never been consummated and that so far as she is concerned it never will be. Attorney R. B. Dickey appears for the girl.

License Bureau Shows Good Auto Sales Here

Automobile manufacturers may report a falling off in the demand for their products, but the records of the District automobile license office indicate that almost everybody in Washington is buying an automobile and, if not a new one, a second-hand one.

Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of licenses, yesterday disclosed that there have been 105,506 licenses for 1930 issued to automobile owners. The total number of licenses issued this year will run above 180,000. Mr. Coombs estimated. By far the largest part of the total of those seeking licenses in the last few weeks is made up of persons who have purchased second-hand cars, Mr. Coombs said.

Machinery Urged For Snow Removal

Purchase of blower snow-loading machinery by the District to aid the Street-cleaning Department to keep the streets clear of snow will be recommended by Maj. D. A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, he announced yesterday on his return from a tour of several other cities to inspect snow-removal equipment used there.

Visits were made to Detroit, Baltimore, New York and Cleveland by Maj. Davison and John D. Murray, master mechanic of the Street Cleaning Department. A necessary part of any adequate snow-removal work, Maj. Davison is convinced, will be an emergency ban on parking for the length of time necessary to permit the cleaning of streets from curb to curb.

A sort of a block system now is being worked out, calling for a prohibition of parking in one group of streets at a time. The tentative program worked out by Maj. Davison and Mr. Murray calls for purchase of approximately $25,000 worth of snow-removal machinery in the course of the next two fiscal years.

$350 Extra Prize Offer Detailed

Only new subscriptions turned in between Thursday, February 20, and Wednesday, March 12, inclusive, apply on the $350 Extra Prize Offer. To the candidate from the city division who turns in the greatest amount in NEW subscription payments during this period a merit prize of $100 in gold will be given. $100 in gold will also be given to the candidate in the out-of-town division who turns in the greatest amount in new subscriptions within his division. The candidates in both city and out-of-town divisions who turn in the second largest amount of new subscription payments in their respective divisions will EACH receive $50 in Gold; and the third highest candidates in each division will EACH receive $25. Winning these prizes does not in any way interfere with winning the final awards. In fact, since new subscription payments secured also determine the amount of EXTRA VOTES which candidates may earn during this period, obviously the winners of the $350 in extra prizes will be well on their way toward even greater final success in the campaign.

90,000 Extra Vote Offer Detailed

Only new subscriptions turned in between Thursday, February 20, and Wednesday, March 12, inclusive, apply in any way upon this EXTRA VOTE offer, which will not be excelled at any time later in the campaign. For every $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in during this 21-day period 90,000 EXTRA VOTES will be issued, with a proportionate share for all new subscriptions exceeding even $20 clubs. These votes will be in addition to the regular votes issued on subscriptions and also in addition to the 5,000 entry votes and the bonus of 25,000 extra votes given on first subscriptions, per the coupons in this announcement. There is no restriction on the number of EXTRA VOTES a candidate can earn under this offer. It is not necessary or desirable that a candidate hold back NEW subscriptions until even $20 clubs are formed. They should be turned in as rapidly as possible, and regular votes will be issued on them immediately. At the end of the period the EXTRA VOTES earned will be tabulated and issued.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF FEBRUARY 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 9:30 a. m and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The benign influences of Jupiter will be felt on this date—you will feel as though you were sitting on top of the world. Financial and worldly success are the order of the day. Social activities will be numerous.

The child born on this February 25 will be naturally well mannered and well behaved. It should cause its parents considerable pride and little worry and should make a shining place for itself in the world. It will be even-tempered, but will not be found lacking in either grit or courage.

You are cursed with two weaknesses which cause you untold misery, envy and jealousy. You have fastidious tastes about your surroundings and your personal adornment, and you choose to eat only foods fit for the gods. The meals for the mind should be just as fastidiously chosen, but unfortunately, you often fill your head with poisoned thoughts. Mental toxins are as dangerous as physical toxins and as hard to counteract. You allow revengeful, hateful, jealous thoughts to derange the rhythm of your life, and to destroy the sweetness and goodness of your nature. Envy keeps dissatisfaction forever at your door—you are never able to "catch up" with your friends—to you their good fortune and prosperity are always greater than yours.

You have an inquisitive nature, and you love to dig to the roots of all things, although many times it would be better for your own peace of mind, if you were willing to take things as they seem. Money has great value in your eyes, and you have a great deal of respect for its power; you are rather inclined to think that it will buy all things, including happiness. Your generosity is limited; it will never permit you to scrimp "number one." The person who captures your love, will have considerable influence over you and your life. You should marry some one whose birthday is in the same month as yours, or in July.

Successful people born February 25:

1—Charles C. Pinckney—soldier and statesman.

2—Jane Goodwin Austin—author.

3—John P. St. John—Governor of Kansas — prohibition candidate for President of the United States.

4—William L. Lee—jurist.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

YOU WERE TAUGHT CORRECTLY.

M. H. writes:

1. I am interested in a case where a daughter of a certain family died of tuberculosis. This I understand was contracted after an attack of pleurisy. The mother was heartbroken and very run down after caring for the daughter. Some years afterward she died of tuberculosis, of the lower organs especially. The question now arises, is tuberculosis hereditary?

2. There are four other children in the family, now full grown and healthy. Would any of these children be tuberculosis carriers?

3. I was taught recently in a class in home nursing that there were but two diseases to be inherited, and tuberculosis was not included.

REPLY.

1. Practically speaking, tuberculosis is not inherited, nor is it congenital In this case the mother was infected by the daughter.

2. It is possible that some of these children were infected by their sister.

3. You were taught correctly.

GALL STONE MAY BE EVADED.

Mrs. A. B. H. writes:

1. What is bile?

2. What must one eat to produce bile?

3. Does gas in the stomach mean that a person has gall stones?

4 Can the formation of gall stones be prevented?

REPLY.

1. Bile is the secretion of the liver. It is a complex liquid, consisting of several substances with different properties.

2. Bile is formed naturally, just as is sweat or any other secretion. When we speak of producing bile we generally mean causing it to be emptied into the intestine. Eating any food causes bile to empty. Eating fats and oils is very effective in this respect.

3. One of the symptoms of gall stones is explosive belching. However, this symptom may be due to other causes.

4. Yes, in many instances. Avoid alcoholic beverages and condiments. Avoid heavy meals. Keep the weight down. Lead an active life.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Just the coat to make you want to put away your fur one for spring—red and brown tweed. (Courtesy of Heim, Paris.)

Paris, Feb. 24.

THE Princess Marie Jose had a far more elegant and luxurious trousseau than another princess who married two years ago.

No, the reason was not at all that she could afford a more elegant one, but rather that she chose a more elegant "mode moment" in which to marry and center the attention of the world, especially the feminine world, upon her trousseau.

Picture, if you can, one of her nightgowns, of the most luxurious flesh-colored satin, sweeping the floor a good 3 feet behind her in the back, with this train covered with handsewn lace, which edged the hem and then scattered itself nearly halfway up to the waist. I'm going to get it to sketch for you, but meanwhile it just seemed worthy of mentioning as an irrefutable evidence of the return of feminine elegance to grace a never too graceful world.

* * * *

A nice fox fur shouldn't crumple up any old shelf in the closet, and come into harsh contact with hats 'n things. What you really must do is send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet which tells you how to make a very practical bag in which to keep your fox fur. It hangs on the rod or nail, you rip open the opening, put in the ammimule, and there he stays until you want him again.

And if you don't exactly want one for yourself, don't forget that it would make a very nice gift, now or any time!

* * * *

All Heim's new coats simulate a somewhat higher than normal waistline, yet without saying it right out loud, as it were.

And a little longer they are, too, even to sports coats, than we are used to seeing from this house. All of which pleases us mightily—how about you?

* * * *

Lovely! And a blow at the threat that the home dressmaker can't achieve elegance—because, dressmaker or no, could anything prevent your making or having made a simple Peter Pan collar of jade green beads—and then matching the beads with larger buttons to fasten your gown at the waist? There are things——!

There's an extra and very special Dah-ray leaflet this week, which gives you some simple exercises to develop a graceful walk. Send a special letter for this marked "Beauty Leaflet."

* * * *

Wanna know honestly what the smartest "prints" are quite liable to be this summer for wash dresses? Those made with the same color as the ground they are on! Especially in white, this idea has been greatly favored at Palm Beach and the Riviera.

O-o-o-h-h! And we almost forgot to suggest again that you look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in the big Sunday Washington Post.

Au revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Why Man Is Conceited."

Do men owe women any consideration, or are we merely here that their shirts may have the proper quota of buttons and their future comfort be assured? Has any man a right to set his sign and seal upon a women warning all other men to forbear trespassing and then turn his undivided attention upon his own affairs, interests and advancement, leaving the woman to wonder just what it is all about? This is no idle question. Men do this thing all the time. Have they some right to do it? And, if not, why does womankind permit it, accept it, bow to it?

Hundreds of women have written to this column on the subject. Hence our deep interest. One girl has been engaged for years to a man who neglects her as he pushes forward to his goal of business success among men "Mary," has submitted meekly. No dances, no shows, no evenings at all together! Nothing but an iron-clad engagement that he refuses to break or allow to be broken! Mary went on submitting until now he announces his intention of leaving for an indefinite period in a distant city and without discussing the subject with his future wife. "Mary" naturally asks us what she should do, and we enthusiastically suggest that she let him go! And find a mate less involved in his own glorious achievements. And then the wives have their tales of ill treatment at the hands of just such men. Read "Resigned" letter:

Dear Miss McDonald: I read your articles every day of my life and enjoy them greatly. Glad for those who are glad and sorry for those who suffer. Have thought several times of writing to you, but knew you had trouble enough thrust upon you; in fact, I marvel at how kind and patient you have always been in trying to help the unfortunate. But today I just feel that I must break out or go up in smoke.

I have been married to a man for fourteen long years. I suffer a nervous breakdown of several weeks nearly every year on account of his extreme disposition, so unreasonable. He thinks a woman was made only to be a slave to a man and I have so many fine ideals I want to live up to, but impossible, I am crushed.

He says there is no God, no eternity, and that settles it. No such thing as love and that settles that. He is as cold-hearted as can be when it comes to sympathy and a little praise. I am gradually dying for a little love, a little kindness. All I get is a place to sleep, a few clothes and a little something to eat, haven't life hardly to enjoy anything. Every one calls me a good housekeeper, except this husband, in name only. He finds fault with everything I do, say and wear, just one snarl after another day in and day out.

I never should have married him, as he always ignored me during our engagement. Just went ahead and did whatever he wanted without consulting me. Such a man can not make any woman happy. He is the only one who counts. I only wish I could tell every girl what is ahead of her when her lover ignores her in the courting days. No fate like marriage to a conceited male who thinks the world, including women, was made for him! RESIGNED.

And then "Devoted Mother:"

"My husband believes he has all the brains. I am 'just a wife.' He has never consulted my wishes in anything, not even our wedding date. He set the day. He had picked the house. He buys the food.

What a life! And yet if I had only known it he was just like this all the time I knew him. Never took me out like other girls' beaux. Never. If he felt like going somewhere then I was, of course, to go along, as part of his importance. He took me to a convention once on a moment's notice. I had not spirit enough to refuse. It was the first year of our marriage. For weeks he had been making his plans to go without even a thought of me, or whether I cared to be left at home He bought new clothes, new bag. Then the morning he was to leave he came home and anounced I should pack my bag. The reason? He learned that the other men were bringing their wives! I should have refused. Instead, I went, and will never forget my humiliation, for I hadn't a single new thing since my wedding. It was a terrible experience for a woman and there have been hundreds more since I hope Mary may escape the fate of living merely to put up some man's opinion of himself. I would strike out even now if it were not for the fact that I am a

DEVOTED MOTHER

Now, what about this high-handed attitude of the kindly, god-like male? Who invested him with all this importance? What made him so prominent in the world? The answer is: Woman! Woman's man's greatest press agent. Listen to women anywhere. What do they talk about? Him. "He hates coffee!" "He says Hoover is the best President since Coolidge!" "He" says this, and he says that. When will women forget man even long enough to make a grand slam? It's a fact, even in the midst of her bridge, woman is thinking of her lord and master, and so is he!

WORK'S BRIDGE

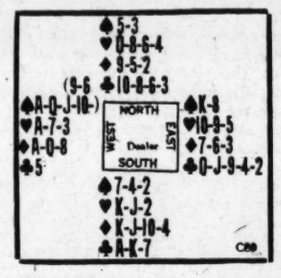
BRIDGERS, ATTENTION!

Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48 page booklet entitled, "Playing Problems," which presents 18 hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced text books, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed, stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48 page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

INTERESTING HANDS I HAVE MET.

Our series of Bridge hands this week will illustrate what a combination of good play and good fortune can produce. Today's hand follows:



The above hand was played in a game of Contract: South (the Dealer) with a count of 15, three suits stopped twice, and three cards in the unstopped suit, made the obvious declaration of one No Trump. West felt the chances for game and a big honor score justified a bid, although it was probable that the No Trump could be defeated severely. Sitting over the No Trump, West expected to find the Kings of Spades and Diamonds under his guns and to be able to capture them if he could get enough leads from East. He wanted East to jump with one trick, so he bid three Spades. North passed; and East, with the King of Spades, gladly responded by bidding four.

Had the hand been played at Auction, the probability is that the bidding of South and West would have been the same, but in that game East would have passed.

THE PLAY.

North led the Four of Hearts and South played the King. West (closed hand) took the trick; and the Declarer could see that he was sure of six Spade tricks and—what was most delightful—two dummy entries in Spades. Also he counted upon two Diamonds and he had won the Ace of Hearts. This left him one trick short of contract, with dummy's Clubs as his only chance. It was obvious that exhausting the trumps at once would leave dummy without an entry should the Clubs be established.

South probably had the Ace and King of Clubs. If West led a Club, East played an honor and South won, the adversaries would win two Heart tricks and next probably led a Diamond which West's Queen could be counted upon to win. Then East could be put in with a trump, but Declarer could not establish a Club in that hand if South had the remaining two honors; nor could he do so with South holding the remaining high honor and North the Ten, because if East led a small Club, South would play small. So Declarer led his singleton Club and finessed East's Nine when North played small. This forced South's King and left East with Queen-Jack against South's Ace. After the two succeeding Heart tricks, West won with the Diamond Queen and put East in with a trump to lead the Queen of Clubs. South covered; West ruffed and put East in with a second trump to cash his Jack of Clubs on which South discarded his losing Diamond and made game.

JELLEFF'S
F STREET

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

THE motion picture theater has probably offered no greater surprise than the ease with which Greta Garbo has adapted herself to microphone requirements that gave serious pause to the careers of Emil Jannings, Vilma Banky, Nils Asther, Lily Damita and scores more that might be mentioned.

That surprise, it seems to me, rests not so much in the matter of pronunciation—to which there does cling a shadow of Swedish accent—as in the unimpeded glibness with which Miss Garbo attacks her speeches, her complete familiarity with English idiom and her natural handling of American slang, always the bane of the foreign born. To be sure, the slight crudities which do manage to manifest themselves are wholly in character, to be expected in any accurate depiction of such a girl as Anna Christie really was.

It remains to be seen now what sort of impression this unique artiste will be able to make when called upon to mouth the speeches written into parts of greater culture and refinement, such as were hers in, say, "Wild Orchids," "A Woman of Affairs," "The Mysterious Lady," "Anna Karenina," "The Kiss," and the like.

While we are being astonished, it should not be overlooked that by her performance in "The Grand Parade," Helen Twelvetrees takes rank with the most promising of the younger emotional stars of the contemporary screen. One who witnessed her performance last Saturday and was charmed by it, as was I, too, in a burst of ecstatic enthusiasm characterized Miss Twelvetrees as "the Maude Adams of the screen."

That, in my fallible view, is just a bit extravagant, but there is in this gifted young actress, over and beyond the facial resemblance, something of the wistfulness, the suggestion of Dresden fragility and the ability to express a maximum of emotion with a minimum of effort that promises to duplicate the distinguished career of Lillian Gish.

It comes to me on highest authority that both of the local Loew houses, the Palace and Columbia, smashed all previous opening day records last Saturday with "The Ship From Shanghai" at the former, and "Anna Christie" at the latter.

While I do not know definitely of other box-office records having fallen, the unanimous report is that every motion picture theater in the District enjoyed capacity patronage—which only goes to strengthen our position on the matter of new theaters expressed in last Sabbath's motion picture lead.

The assessment of holiday prices didn't exactly impede the cash register totals!

The death of Mabel Normand came as a particularly sad blow to M. J. Cullen, managing director of Loew's Washington properties. He was on tour with her for a period of twelve weeks some years ago and during her protracted illness wired her a cheerful message of encouragement at intervals of every three days. They are like that in "show business."

It may be of interest, too, that Charlie Raymond, formerly managing director of the Rialto Theater here and latterly the Loew representative in Baltimore, has been transferred to Kansas City, where he was at one time manager of the Newman Theater. Mrs. Raymond, a concert artiste professionally known as Virginia Futrelle and a daughter of the late Jacques Futrelle, a victim of the Titanic disaster, remains for the time being in Baltimore with their small son.

Beginning March 1, John J. Payette, general manager for the Warner Bros. in the Washington territory, is inaugurating a "Warner Bros.' Theaters Neighborhood Month" to stimulate attendance at the company's residential houses—already so packed you can't get a seat most of the time!

And beginning March 6 the "Newsreel Theater" idea is to be launched for Wednesday evenings only at the Savoy, Fourteenth and Irving streets northwest. Each Wednesday night thereafter will be known as "Variety Night," and the bills will consist entirely of short-reel subjects—comedies, newsreels, cartoons, song reels, novelty shorts, and such as that.

And beginning right now, I hope the man hasn't forgotten to deliver the grass seed and the lime and the bone meal!

San Francisco Broker Weds Broadway's Angel

San Francisco, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Rheba Crawford, who became famous as the "angel of Broadway" while a Salvation Army worker in New York City, was married at the First Congregational Church here today to Ray Splivola, San Francisco broker and polo player. They left immediately on a motor honeymoon trip. Both have been previously married and divorced.

The bride's father, Col. A. W. Crawford, second in command of Golden Gate Division of the Salvation Army and one of those stricken with food poisoning at a Salvation Army banquet here last night, was too ill to attend the wedding ceremony.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

CHILDREN AND THEIR FEVERS.
(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

The mother should learn to read a clinical thermometer so that she may know whether or not her child has a fever. A thermometer may be purchased at any drug store and her doctor or the druggist will be glad to show her how to read it.

The baby's temperature normally ranges from 98.6 to 99.5 degrees F. The temperature of a baby is much more variable than that of an adult, and a temperature higher than 99.5 degrees F. is not unusual even in babies who are not sick. If the temperature is higher than 100 degrees F. the doctor should be notified.

Children are more likely to have fever than grown persons. A rise in temperature frequently accompanies even a slight upset in children, but a continuous fever, even if slight, is more important than a higher temperature for a short period.

The pulse and breathing are difficult to count in infancy. A mother should note how rapid they are when the child is well so that in case of illness she may detect any difference. The mother should also observe the normal position of the child's body, the expression of his face and his color so that indications of discomfort, pain or unusual irritability can be quickly noticed.

STOCK PRICES LOSE AS TRADING SLUMPS

Index of 90 Shares Shows Loss of 2 Points in Very Dull Day.

UTILITY GROUP DECLINES

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Stock prices drifted lower in the dullest session of the stock exchange in more than a month today. Further drastic declines in the wheat and cotton markets and indecisive week-end business reports effectively turned the damper on speculative enthusiasm. Total sales were only 2,320,430 shares, about 240,000 less than Friday's.

Losses were largely moderate, the price index of 90 leading shares showing a decline of less than 2 points, and the market suffered primarily from lack of demand rather than extensive offerings. A "bear" group operating from Southern resorts was said to have applied a little pressure here and there, but it was of a cautious sort.

The opinion prevails in Wall street that the depression in commodity prices is rapidly passing its most acute stages, but the situation, particularly at this season of the year, is beclouded with uncertainty, with the Farm Board presenting a new element of untested influence. The probable effects upon business are found extraordinarily difficult to estimate.

Business News Is Indefinite.

Business news coming to hand over the holiday week-end gave little clew to what may be expected in the way of a spring revival. The recovery so encouraging earlier in the year has lost its snap, and before another pronounced upswing is experienced, most observers are looking for at least three or four more weeks of indecisive trends.

A disappointing item of the day's news was a report that steel mill operations in the Youngstown area had slipped off to about 74 per cent of capacity, compared to 77 per cent a few days ago.

More pleasing was the announcement that directors of Coca Cola had increased the common dividend rate from $4 to $6 annually.

Developments ushering in the long-heralded period of unusually cheap money have been disappointingly tardy of late. Call money, after renewing at 4 per cent today, rose to 4½ as banks called more than $60,000,000 in loans, evidently having overloaned themselves to take advantage of the holiday week-end. Time money showed sympathetic firmness, and commercial paper, while still quoted at 4½ for prime names, displayed a firmer undertone. Despite lower rates, there appears as yet no great plentitude of bank credit for business loans and mortgages over much of the country.

U. S. Steel Declines.

U. S. Steel closed at 179, off 3½ net and 10 points below its recently established 1930 high. Utilities generally sagged, with American & Foreign Power losing more than 3 points in response to rumors of a forthcoming offering of senior securities. Other shares closing 2 or 3 points lower included American Can, American Telephone, Atchison, Canadian Pacific, Corn Products, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Johns Manville, Westinghouse Electric and Northern Pacific. Safeway Stores and Lackawanna lost 4 points. Gulf States Steel 6, and J. I. Case 8. Standard Oil of New York responded to the proposed Vacuum merger with a gain of a point. Public Service of New Jersey gained as much, Devoe & Raynolds A and Columbian Carbon closed 2 points higher, American Bank Note and Coca-Cola 3.

Wheat futures lost about 6 cents a bushel net, reaching new lows for the season in response to weak foreign markets, scarcity of storage room in the Southwest and lower cash markets. Corn lost about half as much. Cotton futures lost nearly $2 a bale, also reflecting weak foreign markets, as well as arguments for reduced acreage.

Foreign exchanges were steady to firm, with sterling cables ruling at $4.86¼, up ⅛.

DULL BOND MARKET SEES STEADY PRICES

Foreign Shares Prove to Be Busy With Net Gains Predominating.

MONEY RATES ADVANCE

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The bond market was dull but steady today.

Prices edged upward and eased off in confusing fashion, leaving an even mixture of gains and losses which, in the case of the high grade listings, were scarcely half a point in extent. The volume of the day's languid business was about $1,500,000 below the Friday total.

Interest charges were slightly higher. Call money advanced from 4 to 4½ per cent as the banks called loans, while 30-day time accommodations moved up a shade, with the other maturities remaining firm. This market was dull and money brokers reported that much of the long-term was awaiting employment at 5 per cent.

U. S. Shares Very Dull.

United States Governments labored through one of the dullest sessions in weeks. Turnover for all the listed issues did not reach $100,000, par value, and fluctuations were minute, with closing quotations off slightly from the previous close.

One of the busiest groups in the list was the foreign section. For the most part an early advance in prominent loans failed to hold, although net gains predominated. The easing tendency, however, carried through the close in Argentine 6s "A," Belgium 7s, Chile 6s, Rome 6½s and a few others. Australia 5s of 1957 lost a point. Cuba 5½s, Belgium 6s, Italy 7s and numerous French issues were firm.

In the prime domestic rails there were unimportant declines in Santa Fe General 4s, Canadian National 5s, Pennsylvania General 5s and Nickel Plate 6s, Chicago & North Western 6½s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Delaware & Hudson 4s, Nickel Plate 5½s and Pennsylvania Gold 4s averaged about half a point higher. Green Bay & Western income "B" debentures advanced 2¼ points on an active turnover.

American Telephone Loses.

Convertibles sold off in sympathy with stocks. American Telephone 4½s lost 2½ points net. International Telephone 4½s dropped 2⅜ and Atchison 4½s fell 2.

Weakness of Cuba Dominican sugar listings featured the industrials. The 7½s tumbled 5½s points to equal their low of 34, while the certificates of deposit sagged 4 points to 34, a record low. Domestic industrials quiet.

Inquiry for the utilities was light and net variations were unimportant.

RULES FOR ESSAYS OF BANKERS GIVEN

Three Winners of Contest to Receive Free Trip to Asheville.

SUBJECTS ARE OFFERED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Rules for the essay contest of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, open to all members of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, who are employes of association member banks, were announced yesterday, announcement being earlier this year to give contestants ample time for research and preparation. Three contestants, who in the judges' opinion prepare the best papers will be given trips to the association's convention at Asheville, N. C., June 5 to 8.

Papers are not to exceed 3,000 words and must be typewritten on one side of the page only, double-spaced and submitted in triplicate to association headquarters not later than May 5. Papers must bear fictitious names that will conceal identity of authors and in other envelopes the real and fictitious names of authors are inserted. The latter is not opened until after awards are made.

The first subject is "My job. My duties. What are the requisite qualifications and how may I be of the greatest service to my bank in helping to increase earnings and reduce expenses?"

In handling this subject it is suggested the writer should develop a plan or plans whereby, without reducing efficiency the general expenses incident to successful operation of the bank may be decreased and its earnings increased, with resultant betterment of his own position and future in the institution of which he is a part.

Clearance of Checks, One Subject.

The second is "How may the clearing of checks on nearby points be expedited?" Here the writer should develop a workable plan whereby the local banks would be able to effect quicker and more satisfactory collection of items deposited with them by their customers, drawn on banks in the immediate vicinity.

Eugene Meyer, jr., former head of the Federal Farm Loan Board, managing director of the War Finance Corporation under Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge, banker and authority on international finance, will address the Bond Club of Washington at its monthly luncheon meeting Friday at 12:30 o'clock at the Carlton Hotel.

Complete reports from 31 local banks carrying Christmas savings clubs this year show total memberships increased 4,496 to a new high of 92,197, while the amount subscribed increased $373,044.50 making an aggregate of $7,835,123.50, an average of $85 per member. H. F. Rawll, president of the Christmas Club Corporation, national group, states this is the highest average in the United States.

The campaign this year consisted of 28 advertisements in the five principal daily papers, beginning November 29 and ending January 15, at a total cost of $2,013.74 subscribed by 29 banks.

Life Insurance Here Rises.

The District of Columbia stood nineteenth on a list of States in order of percentage increase for January, 1930, compared with January, 1929, according to the monthly survey of life insurance sales completed by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. The local percentage of increase was ten. January sales were $5,780,000 and 41 per cent of the local companies reported gains for the month.

Curb Review

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Stock prices drifted lower in today's curb market, with selling inspired by the break in commodity prices, higher money rates and President Hoover's declaration that higher taxes were likely unless there was a short curtailment in governmental expenditures proposed in Congress. The reaction embraced practically all groups of stocks, with the bulk of the day's activity again the public utility group. Trading was only moderate in volume, the day's sales totalling only 631,300 shares.

Electric Bond & Share was in rather free supply all day, closing 2½ points lower at 94½, which contrasts with the recent high of 102¾. American Gas & Electric dropped 6½ points, American & Foreign Power warrants 2¾, and Brazilian Light & Traction, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Electric Power Associates, Hydro Electric, United Light & Power convertible preferred and Utilities Power lost a point or more. American Light & Traction jumped 5½ points, Duke Power 5¼ and Sierra Pacific Electric and Tampa Electric recorded moderate gains.

Aluminum Co. of America broke 20 points to 310, which contrasts with the year's high of 345 and a low of 275. Deere & Co. (new) broke 7 points to 113 and Metropolitan Chain Stores sank 3 points to 24, both new 1930 lows.

Stock of the new General Petroleum Corporation, which was organized to merge the assets of the Standard Oil Co. of New York and the Vacuum Oil Co., subject to Government approval, was admitted to unlisted trading privileges. A few hundred shares changed hands at 32¼ and 32⅜. Vacuum closed 2 points higher at 93. Gulf Oil sagged 1⅜, but the other active petroleum issues showed only fractional changes.

Investment trust, trading and holding corporation shares were heavy, losses of a point or so being recorded by Goldman Sachs, Lehman, Graymur and Ungerleider. Radio and aviation shares were quiet, with most of the leaders showing slight recessions.

A break of nearly 10 points in General Theaters Equipment 6s featured the trading in curb bonds.

N.C.U. TEAMS TO CLOSE SEASON

Basket Ball, Boxing Teams in Title Tournaments.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Feb. 24.—University of North Carolina athletic teams will begin thinking this week in terms of Southern titles, for it is tournament time!

The Carolina boxers have ended their schedule. The varsity basket ball men will close their season in a game here tonight at 8:30 with Davidson.

Freshman contests with Davidson in basket ball tonight and with V. P. I. in boxing here Saturday night will round out the week's program.

The basket ball men and boxers will go the last of the week respectively, to the ninth annual basket ball tourney in Atlanta and the fourth annual boxing tourney in Charlottesville, to attempt to stretch the string of honors won by Tarheel teams of other years.

Tarheel Courtmen Are Outsiders.

Both tournaments begin on Friday. The boxing tourney will be concluded on Saturday, but the basket ball tourney will run through Monday.

The Tarheel Basket Ball Legion, for the first time in history, will attend the tournament as outsiders. Tarheel teams of other years have won four of eight tournaments and always carried a punch and a fear for opposing teams. This year's quint, big and powerful, but handicapped by lack of veteran forwards, got off to a slow start, but showed new offensive power in each game, and might prove the dark horse of the tournament.

Boxers Favorites In Tourney.

The Tarheel boxers will be among the favorites at the Charlottesville slugfest to repeat the title they have won the last two of three years the tournament has been held.

The Carolinians have won from Washington and Lee, V. P. I., V. M. I., Duke, Virginia and South Carolina. The only loss marring the champions' record was to Florida, and in that meet the Tarheels won two knockouts and lost two extra-round decisions that were hairbreadth as to closeness, which might have gone either way.

The first wrestling tournament is not to be held until March 7 and 8. The Tarheel matmen will put in an intensive week of work, before facing Duke here March 3 and going to the tournament March 7.

Unbeaten W. & L. Team Downs Duke Wrestlers

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Feb. 24.—Washington and Lee closed a successful wrestling season here this afternoon, defeating Duke, last year's Southern Conference champions in a dual meet, 22 to 6. The Generals won two falls and four-time decisions, losing only the 115 and 135 pound classes by time.

Today's victory was the sixth for Washington and Lee out of as many starts. Coach Mathis' men have amassed a total of 165 points to 35 for combined opposition furnished by William and Mary, Army, Virginia, North Carolina State, V. P. I. and Duke.

Family ties and brotherly love played a feature part in the afternoon's entertainment. The Duke coach, "Tex" Tilson, a former pupil of Mathis, found his brother, "Young Tex" wrestling for the Generals in the 165-pound division; but Coach Mathis took honors by using his own brother, Wayne Mathis, in the 155-pound weight.

115-pound class—Gamble (Duke) won from Stults (W. and L.). Time decision of 5 minutes 33 seconds.

125-pound class—Davidson (W. and L.) won from Gentry (Duke). Time decision of 3 minutes 25 seconds.

135-pound class—Capt. Starnes (Duke) won a 2 minute and 53 seconds time decision over Osterman (W. and L.) in an extra period of wrestling.

Alexandria Quintet In Virginia Tourney

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 24.—Sixteen Class B high school basket ball teams eligible for the State tournament of the Virginia High School Literary and Athletic League were named today by Charles H. Kaufman, executive secretary.

First of the four district tournaments will be played at William and Mary College with teams from Alexandria, Fredericksburg, Hampton and Suffolk. Two more district tourneys will be held Saturday. Buchannon, the only class 3 team with a perfect record, plays at Virginia Polytechnic Institute with Rocky Mount, Lexington and Lee High of Staunton. At Emory and Henry the entries are Big Stone Gap, Virginia High of Bristol, Dickinson Memorial of Clintwood, and Pulaski.

The preliminary tournament at the University of Virginia will not take place until next week. Lane High of Charlottesville, Virginia School for Deaf and Blind, Bridgewater and Waynesboro are entered here.

Entries for the tournament were selected upon the basis of their play this winter. Winners in district tourneys meet at the University of Virginia on Friday, March 7, to play for the State title.

DUKE WINS 9 OF 10 GAMES IN LOOP

Averaged 36 Points Against Conference Court Teams.

Special to The Washington Post.

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 28.—Closing the schedule with members of the Southern Conference last Thursday against Maryland, Duke University's Blue Devils also brought to close an enviable record in the conference.

Winning nine out of ten games in the group, the Devils amassed a total of 363 points in the ten games, an average of 36.3 points per game. Duke's Team never scored under 28 points, being held to that margin by Maryland in the first meeting between the two teams. They had scores of 29 on two occasions, both with Washington and Lee.

Two of the teams that Duke beat worst were also beaten by the narrowest margins on two other instances. Maryland held Duke to a 1-point score early in the season, but lost by a 15-point margin later. In the first meeting Duke defeated North Carolina by a 21-point margin and on second meeting barely nosed them out by 1 point. The Devils trounced Virginia by a 33-point lead for the worst defeat handed. None of the other games were won by more than 6 points. The loss to W. and L. was by 4 tallies.

Croson Scored 78 In 10 Games.

Four members of the Duke Team rank with the best in the conference in high scoring. All members of the Duke Team are great shots, as is indicated by individual scores in the ten conference tilts: Croson, center, 78; Rogers, forward, 73; Werber, guard, 72, and Councillor, forward, 63.

Scores in Southern Conference games for the season are:

Silver Spring High Five in Title Fray

Silver Spring High School will endeavor to capture the championship of Montgomery County this afternoon, when it meets the Poolesville High Five at 3 o'clock in the second of the three-game series on the Poolesville court. Silver Spring took the first game of the series, winning by a score of 18-14, and may take the title by winning today. The team has won the championship three times in the last four years.

The winner of the championship will meet the Hyattsville High School, which recently captured the title of the Prince George's County League. In taking the title of Montgomery County, Silver Spring defeated the teams in Bethesda, Rockville and Sandy Spring.

Davidson Defeats Virginia U. Wrestlers

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 24.—With the score tied at the start of the final bout, Pat Boyle won a time decision over Williams to give the Davidson College Wrestling Team a 17½-to-14½ victory over the Virginia Matmen here this afternoon.

Each team registered two falls. Capt. French, of the Cavaliers, pinned Warren with an arm lock in less than a half minute, while Pender, of the 145-pound class, defeated Morris with a body chancery. Powhatan Conway, ace of the Davidson Squad, undefeated except in the match with the Army, threw McEwen after a hard struggle.

125 pounds—Draw between Wilson (Virginia) and Gorham (Davidson) after extra periods.

135 pounds—Won by McGeorge (Virginia) over Brown (Davidson); time advantage.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 24.—Episcopal High School Basket Ball Team will close its season this week by playing two games on their home court. On Wednesday afternoon the Episcopalians will play Emerson Institute, of Washington, starting at 4 o'clock, while on Saturday they will tackle their ancient rivals from Woodberry Forest, beginning at 3:30 o'clock.

Alexandria High School teachers held another basket ball practice this afternoon in preparation for their game with the high school girls, to be played on March 8. From all indications the teachers will hand the local girls another defeat, as they have in the past three years.

The Alexandria High School Basket Ball Team won the Third District title this season, but it had no effect on the Class B championship, since it will have to compete in the William and Mary tournament against the same teams that they beat out in the Third District race. The local high school made a clean sweep in the district and should go a long ways in the tournament.

Coach Reynolds will take his boys to Williamsburg early next week but does not know who his team will play. Washington and Lee High School from Ballston and Fredericksburg High School teams will be entered in the same tournament.

The Alexandria Police Department has planned another baseball team for the coming season and has elected Lawrence Padgett as manager and Edgar Simms as captain. Manager Padgett started to work on his schedule immediately and expects to bring some of the leading clubs to the city including police departments from other cities. Among the players who have been signed to play with the team are: Grimm, Zimmerman, Driefus, Parr, Hicks, Ludlow, Simms, Langford, Bradley and Everley. Other players are expected to be signed soon.

SPORTSMAN DIES.

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Eugene Byfield, sportsman, hotel owner and one of the few rightly to be known as a "man about town," died early today, from injuries suffered last Tuesday in a fall from his polo pony. He was 46 years, unmarried, and vice president of the Hotel Sherman Co.

SHARKEY SAVAGE WITH MATES IN FINAL WORKOUT

G. U. Hopeful Of Conquest In Meet

3 Pitt Men May Cut Into Point Total of Pennsylvania.

Trial on Thursday to Decide if Wildermuth Will Run.

By JACK ESPEY.

ALTHOUGH it appears improbable that Karl Wildermuth, star sprinter, will compete, Georgetown's track team harbors hopes of springing an upset victory Saturday night in the intercollegiate championship games in New York City.

Wildermuth, who is suffering a torn muscle in his right thigh, is scheduled to undergo a trial sprint Thursday at the Hilltop. If he is able to show his old speed, he will take part Saturday night in the 70-yard dash and the broad jump. Otherwise—and that means even if the leg pains him—he will be only a spectator if he attends the meet.

But without Wildermuth, Georgetown can see more than faintly a chance to slip through the formidable field of rivals to take the coveted team title. It depends on three University of Pittsburgh athletes.

Entrance of Trio Uncertain.

These men—Pete Bowen, sprinter; Knoblock, hurdler and high jumper, and Utterbach, high and broad jumper—are eligible to compete, but whether they will is not certain, inasmuch as Pitt has not been a regular entrant in the meet.

If they compete, Georgetown figures they will cut into the point score of Pennsylvania, the team generally picked to win.

Bowen, the national and intercollegiate 440-yard champion, is an acknowledged star in the shorter sprints, and it is believed he can outrun the best dash man in the Pennsylvania line-up. Penn has Backer and Sachs available for the 70-yard sprint.

Utterbach, one of the best decathlon performers in college ranks, is particularly proficient in the broad jump, having done between 23 and 24 feet during the past year. Georgetown thinks he can take some points from Penn, which has entered Boyle, Newkirk and Berlinger in the event. Also a high jumper of note, Utterbach may interfere with Penn's success again.

Knoblock Talented In 3 Events.

Knoblock, of whom little has been heard in the East, is a highly capable man in the hurdles, the high jump and the broad jump. While Penn is not being counted on to score in the hurdles, it is figured to do well in the high and broad jumps. Knoblock will join with Utterbach in taking some points from Penn, if Georgetown's hopes are realized.

Georgetown, with Leo Sexton in the high jump, shotput and 35-pound weight; Erik Kjellstrom in the hurdles; Bernard Bonniwell and Dan ... ning in the high jump, and the ... le and two-mile teams should prove a leading contender for the championship, according to practically all of the best informed track experts of the East.

The possibility of Pittsburgh's trio opening a way for Georgetown to outscore Pennsylvania is an angle which hasn't been considered heretofore.

Golden Prince Unsold When Bidding Is Low

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Golden Prince, winner of the 1929 Coffroth Handicap and one of the ranking favorites for the Agua Caliente Handicap of March 23, still munched his oats in the barn of Harry Unna and Abe Bartelstein today after being placed on the auction block.

The highly regarded 6-year-old Golden Guinea gelding was offered for sale yesterday along with Sidney Grant, 3-year-old, and seven other horses. The announced purpose was to close out the partnership of Bartelstein and Unna. No large bids were received on the horses, and Earl Linnell, acting for the owners, led Golden Prince and Sidney Grant away. Linnell bid $32,000 for Golden Prince and $20,000 for Sidney Grant.

Baron Long, race horse owner, and several others bid on Golden Prince until the figure went close to $20,000 and then dropped out. Bids for Sidney Grant went to $15,000.

MD. QUINTET IN FINALE AT HOME

Meets St. John's of Annapolis, Starring Bob MacCartee.

MARYLAND UNIVERSITY'S Five will close its regular schedule tonight at College Park, meeting St. John's of Annapolis at 8 o'clock. It will be the Old Line team's sixth game in eight days, five contests having been played from Tuesday to Saturday, inclusive, last week.

Tonight's game should afford the Terrapins a hard workout as preparation for their start in the Southern Conference tournament at Atlanta on Friday. St. John's, although inconsistent, has played fine basket ball at times this season.

Bob MacCartee, star forward of the Annapolis quintet, is a Washington high school product. He will be meeting some old rivals and teammates in the Maryland array, including Bozie Berger, Pat Rooney, Julie Radice, Al Heagy, George Madigan, Bill Evans and Charlie May.

Meet Kentucky in Tourney Debut.

Maryland has drawn a formidable foe for its bow in the Southern Conference tournament. The University of Kentucky Five, which ranks second in the Dixie standing, is to play the Old Line team at 7 p. m. Friday.

In a preliminary game tonight a team of former Maryland stars will play the Maryland Reserves, starting at 7 o'clock. Ham Adams, Jack Faber, Artie Boyd, Mike Stevens, Leland Cardwell, Chief Beatty, Bill Supplee and Buddy Ensor will make up the alumni quintet.

HAWKS SEEK RIVAL.

DUKE BOXERS WIN OVER W. & L.

Carper Takes Final Bout to Gain 4 to 3 Victory.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 24.—Duke University's boxers outslugged Washington and Lee's mittmen in a Southern Conference duel meet here tonight and won, 4 to 3. This card, the last on the schedule for both teams, was a thriller from start to finish, with the outcome in doubt until the last fight.

Duke won with three knockouts—all technical—and a decision. Washington and Lee won the first two and the fourth of the seven fights. With the score knotted at three-all, Carper, unlimited, who had gone down to defeat in wrestling in the afternoon knocked out his foe in 40 seconds.

Washington and Lee won the first bout, between 115-pounders, when Robertson scored a technical K. O. over Edwards in 1 minute and 47 seconds of the third round. Then Slosburg, 125-pounder, won another for the Generals, when he took a decision in a hair-raising slugfest from Capt. Martin, Duke's hitherto unbeaten lightweight.

Starnes Defeats Captain Black.

Starnes, also a wrestler of the afternoon, when Washington and Lee downed Duke, 22 to 6, came through with a strong second-round bout against the General captain, Julian Black, and scored a knockout after 1 minute and 50 seconds of that frame.

Robison, of Washington and Lee, next won a decision over Wetz, and then Warren, of Duke, was ruled better than McKinney in the 160-pound class. Another knockout followed in the 175-pound class, when Heaps, of Washington and Lee, went down under a barrage of blows from Hyatt.

Three of the Duke fighters are theological students.

PRINCE GEORGES LEAGUE.

Mount Rainier and the Dor-A teams won in the Prince George's County League games played last night at the Hyattsville Armory, the former five winning by forfeit from the Brentwood Hawks. Although a pick-up team of the Hawks defeated Mount Rainier 59 to 16, the contest was not official. Dobbs, of Dor-A led his team to victory over the Maryland Collegians with 13 points.

MIDSHIPMEN REPORT FOR BASEBALL

55 Varsity Aspirants, 40 Plebes Begin Work in Cage.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 24.—Fifty-five varsity and 40 plebe baseball candidates reported today and immediately began work in the cages in the spacious armory under Coach Ernest "Kid" Mohler, who has just arrived here from the West to begin his second year. Prospects are not considered more than fair.

Capt. H. D. Cooke, new director of athletics at the academy, an old ball player himself who served one term at the academy as representative for baseball some years ago, attended the opening drill of the tossers in company with Lieut. Comdr. Elliot B. Nixon, the athletic department's representative this year. The plebe tossers were in charge of Ensign "Thug" Walsh.

The Navy team this season is captained by "Bill" Gentner, center fielder for two seasons, the Middies leading hitter and general star. The Californian finds both his old outfield mates, Red Stroh and Fitzgerald back. Fitzgerald, a slugger deluxe, was out last season owing to a broken jaw following a collision with Gentner. Johnny Byng, Washington boy, is expected to be shifted to first base to replace Ajax Miller, the 1929 captain. Betts and Lampe are two capable outfielder substitutes.

Excepting Miller at first, last year's infield will be intact. O'Toole, second, and Tommy Ashworth, short, are a clever pair, and played together all last summer on the second-class team while here for aviation instruction. Williams, of last year's plebes, is a candidate for second, as is Keen for short.

Lowrance, regular third-sacker, has House and Raysbrook, runners-up, tsilll on his trail. Hunter, of the summer second-class team, a wiry portsider, and Hurley, of the plebe team, are other first-base hopefuls.

The pitching department appears the weakest. Bob Moore, who hurled splendidly in 1928 but did little pitching last year, is rated No. 1 now. Other moundsmen on hand were Scultz, Englehart and Jurtz, of the summer second-class team, and Hitchcock, Coxe and Coombs, of the plebes.

The catching staff finds Gubbins a steady receiver, but none too strong swinger, back and Torpenson and Scull also are available. Rogers and Matthews, of last spring plebe team, both first-class players, bilged from the academy.

Hitting the Baseball Trail

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Bucky Harris led the vanguard of his Detroit Tigers to Plainfield here this morning for the first "limbering up" practice of the spring training season.

The squad was composed of a dozen or more battery men. Fielders were to arrive later.

It was a crowd of youngsters that took to the field with much shouting and enthusiasm. Although only 33 himself, the Tiger manager was the oldest of the group.

Questioned as to whether or not he would be a playing manager this season, Harris replied with an emphatic "no."

"I am a bench manager so long as Gehringer is at second," he said.

He added that Alexander at first base and Marty McManus at third were fixtures on his team. He expects to develop a shortstop from a quartet of youngsters that includes Westling, Akers, Watson and Rogell.

It was admitted that the outfield assignments were unsettled, but Harris said he favored Roy Johnson for one berth while Harry Rice, Fothergill, Stone and Harris vied for the others.

Young Cub Hurler Badly Injured.

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The first casualty of the Cubs' 1930 spring training cropped up today.

Lou Warneke, young right-hander, who came up this year from the Alexandria, La., club, was struck a severe blow over his forehead by a flying bat during the short hitting practice. His eyes escaped damage but he suffered a bad gash on his forehead that required several stitches to close.

Indians Take Field A Day Early.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Perfect weather sent the Cleveland Indians scampering onto the practice field here today, a day ahead of the scheduled opening for the annual limbering up.

All but three members of the pitching staff were on hand. Wes Ferrell, and Willis Hudlin, now classed as holdouts, and Ken Holloway were the missing hurlers. Holloway will report in a few days.

Practice was light and Manager Roger Peckinpaugh left the men mostly to their own devices but kept a wary eye for signs of overambition.

24 Yankees Start Training.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.). Twenty-four New York Yankees under direction of Bob Shawkey, successor to the late Miller Huggins, started their annual spring training at Crescent Lake Park here today.

Among the arrivals were 13 pitchers, 5 catchers, 4 infielders, and a pair of outfield recruits.

Babe Ruth was not here to greet his teammates and begin training. He is at a fishing camp 100 miles from here with a party of friends.

Batterymen at Macks' Camp.

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Connie Mack, eight teammates and a large gathering of fans were at the railway station early today to meet the battery men of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics, arriving here for spring training.

Connie came down from Mount Plymouth, Fla., yesterday to find that Mickey Cochrane, Capt. Eddie Collins, George L. Earnshaw, Bill Shore, Cy Perkins, Jimmy Foxx, Howard Ehmke, Eddie Rommell and Tom Summa had arrived ahead of him. First practice was ordered for this afternoon.

G. W. Cub Five Triumphs at Maryland

Beats Old Line Freshmen, 25-12, Second Time This Season.

Game Is Unmarked by Field Goal in First 12 Minutes.

IN a game marked by the lack of a field goal in the first twelve minutes of play, George Washington University Freshmen rallied to defeat the University of Maryland yearlings for the second time this season, 25 to 12, yesterday on the College Park floor. As in the initial encounter, neither Connor nor Burgess was allowed to compete with the winners, in deference to Maryland's transfer rule.

After a scoreless three minutes of play, Wells gave the eventual winners a slim lead by making good from the foul line, but nine more minutes elapsed without further score. Then Thorn, of Maryland, came through with the first 2-pointer of the game to give the Old Line Cubs a 2-1 lead, after which both teams began to find the basket. Ford Brown, one of the three Browns on the G. W. Team, led the attack for his team, which was found on the long end of a 11-6 score at half-time.

Thorn Leads Scorers With 8 Points.

Thorn was the only player of the losing quintet able to score more than once from the floor, connecting with the cords three times to lead the scorers of both teams with 8 points. The inability to score from the foul line seriously handicapped the Old Liners, who were able to make good on but two of their thirteen free chances. The Colonial yearlings outscored their foes from the floor, 10 to 5.

Joseph Sherr Named Central Grid Manager

Joseph Sherr, assistant manager of the Central High football team last Fall, has been appointed manager and head of a staff of assistant managers of the 1930 Blue and White eleven, it was announced yesterday at the Mt. Pleasant School. The Central managerial staff will include six assistants to aid Sherr, including Mitchell and Charters, who have already been named.

An attractve schedule is now being arranged by Sherr for next Fall. It is thought that the annual "C" Club game will be played with some out-of-town eleven, probably a scholastic team from some Southern State.

Fight Customers in Revolt At Miami With Approach of "Battle of Itching Palms"

Garden Company Has White Elephant on Hands With Apathy of Visitors Who Spend Freely for Everything Else; Carey Chooses to Forego Battle.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24.—From all outward indications, including the doleful demeanor of the management and the almost total absence of traffic around the box offices, I take it that the battle of the itching palms of Thursday evening is to be a financial failure or at best a stand-off.

The present situation may be described as the revolt of the customers, for there are more customers along this coast just now than there have been at any other time since the boom, and their sales resistance holds fast against just one luxury of the many which are offered for their entertainment on all sides, to wit, tickets for the Garden Corporation's program of prize fights, presenting Jack Sharkey and Fainting Philip Scott in the main mazourka.

The customers have been buying everything from straw hats to aeroplanes with the old familiar enthusiasm of the Florida East Coast winter customer who is the most enthusiastic spender on earth and disinclined to quibble over rates and prices even though the dollar be hammered down to the value of the franc. But, with the prize fight now just three days off, the total sales of prize-fight tickets, including reservations not yet redeemed with cash, amounts to no more than $150,000, give or take $10,000, and I hear quite solvent idlers from the North and West remarking that they will be elsewhere on the night in question because Sharkey is fighting the wrong man—the right party, of course, being Max Schmeling, the German, instead of Fainting Philip.

Mr. Carey Makes Exit From Scene.

Mr. Will Carey, President of the Garden Corporation, fled the scene today, returning to New York to catch a ship for South America, where he has more promising business to attend to, leaving Frank January Bruen, general manager of the firm, and also of the Miami horse track, to rally the corps of high-salaried press agents through the remaining days of the venture and count the receipts at the end.

Mr. Bruen is polite and patient, but he and Mr. Carey both doubtless realize by this time that they have tried to sell the patrons a trivial and depressing match for the regulation price of a heavyweight championship, while saving their more interesting performers for summer shows in the Polo Grounds or the Yankee Stadium in New York.

Fainting Phillip's entire appeal for trade has been in the nature of an apology for the disheartening exhibitions with which he rewarded the patrons on his previous appearances in New York. He was forced upon the Garden Corporation by the New York Prize Fight Commission in payment of a political obligation to Phillip's manager and eagerly accepted by the Sharkey party, all of whom anticipate a brief and not all unpleasant affray and a knockout for their chap within, say, five rounds, wherein, of course, they may be disappointed because Sharkey himself has not been a thoroughbred in the rings.

Few Good Fights In Stock.

The promoters really had no match which they wished to waste on the Florida trade. It is their business plan, subject to any necessary revisions, of course, to produce a fight between Sharkey and Schmeling at the Polo Grounds in the summer, which they will represent to be a heavyweight championship affair, and another one later on between Primo Carnera, the Italian monstrosity, and Victori Campolo, of the Argentine.

As a final qualifying match for Sharkey, the logical nominee would have been Tuffy Griffiths, of Chicago, but Sharkey was a little dubious about Griffiths and so were the promoters who probably thought the young man from the Middle West presented too great a threat to their most valued employe. I doubt that even Mr. Bruen, who has had long experience in the sports business and well knows the great capacity of the customers for betrayal and punishment, would have had the effrontery to select Fainting Phil as one of these star performers in a major presentation this winter, but when the New York prize fight commissioners arbitrarily named him, the Garden Corporation felt relieved of all blame in the matter.

But now that the night of the show draws nigh, it is quite apparent that the customers' forgiving disposition has been overtried and that even the naive mystery of Philip's secret punch has failed to soften their resentment, the secret punch having been invented and quite used up as an advertising device by Georges Carpentier, anyway.

Gene Tunney on Scene, Retires to Seclusion.

James Joseph Tunney arrived in Miami today from another of his island retreats, this one in the Gulf of Mexico, off Sarasota, attended by Mme. Tunney and certain of his in-laws and retired to seclusion in the Roney Plaza Hotel, a pretentious tavern on the beach, where, from his apartment windows, he may view the Hotel Wofford, scene of his earlier sojourns here, and regale himself with certain reflections too obvious to need mention.

He asked that the press be not allowed to violate his privacy and I believe this has been accepted as fair enough a break by the press, although this request perversely recalls those days during the boom when he and Willie Stribling were to fight here.

The press allowed him too much privacy then and neither his social charm nor Stribling's local appeal to the Southern customer availed to sell the bout, which finally foundered, leaving some few customers with $20 tickets among their souvenirs.

Gene's Presence Recalls Previous Failure.

A superstitious promoter might see some ill omen in Mr. Tunney's presence at this limping promotion, for it may be recalled that he was the young man of the evening in the last previous heavyweight spectacle in which the Garden Corporation took a loss, his farewell bout with Thomas Heeney, the crushed rock of New Zealand. A dinner for him is now in progress, at which the press is represented by just a few respectful believers, including, I am told the audacious Englishman who piped up "He's a jolly good fellow," at Tunney's farewell luncheon in New York that time and had to sing it through to the end alone without one assenting voice to relieve the ghastly loneliness of his dogged, shower bath tenor.

The local papers tell of many special trains arriving from New York, Boston, Chicago, and intermediate points with thousands of eager customers, but the streets seem only normally congested and the boys at the ticket windows still while away the weary hours drawing faces and feet and schemeless scribble designs on their scratch pads, waiting for trade.

Celtic Five Downs Woodlawn A. C., 38-25

A last-quarter attack earned a decision for the St. Mary's Celtics over the Woodlawn Five, 38-25, last night in an Independent Pro League game at Schuler's Hall. Throughout the first half, the teams battled on even terms, ending the first 20 minutes of play with 18-18 deadlock. However, the Celtics stepped out to gain a 26-22 advantage in the third quarter, and proceeded to sew up the game in the final period.

Jimmy Phelan, Washington's new coach, notified Campbell that Collins had accepted a contract and would leave Chicago Wednesday for the Coast.

Boston Sailor On Edge for Fight

Mauls Partners in 3-Round Drill; No Longer Talkative.

Scott Has Yet to Show He Has Power in His Punches.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Any lingering doubt about Jack Sharkey's condition for his fifteen-round match Thursday night with Phil Scott, or any question that he may be a trifle stale, seemed effectively dispelled today by the Boston sailor's final workout with the gloves.

Sharkey hardly could have looked more impressive than he did in battering three sparring partners around the ring in as many rounds. He was on his toes, aggressive and punching with the well-known Sharkey savagery in successive set-toes with Pierre Charles, Johnny Grosso and Mose Boquillon, the international sparring staff.

Sailor No Longer Loquacious.

Sharkey prefers to say it with his fists. There is not the slightest question in his own mind that he will knock out Scott quickly, but the big Lithuanian no longer is the loquacious one. Gone is the braggadocio that marked his early rise as a heavyweight against such men as Harry Wills and Jimmy Maloney. He looked the part of a grim, perfectly-conditioned fighting machine this afternoon and his only remark to newspapermen for publication was: "I can promise you and the American people that the heavyweight championship is going to stay in the United States. Anything else from me would be superfluous."

Sharkey's trainer, Al Lacey, ridiculed the idea that his man has gone stale in the least.

"Jack is in perfect shape," said Lacey. "He hasn't an ache, a pain or a sore spot on his body. He has broadened and filled out, giving him a lot more power in his punches. He is fully an inch bigger around the shoulders and chest than a few months ago. He is boxing better and using his left more effectively than I have ever seen him. The mental attitude is where you look for staleness first and Sharkey is keener today than ever in that respect."

Scott Has Yet to Show Hitting Power.

"If there are any fears about Sharkey or what he will do to Scott, they may be based on the fact that the Boston sailor looks almost too good. The boys are going around wondering whether the bout can possibly be as one-sided as they expect."

Scott's condition appears satisfactory, but the Englishman has yet to give any of the experts the impression that he can hit hard enough to damage Sharkey or offer a defense to the American's hard-hitting attack. Phil's snaky left jab may worry Sharkey, but it takes more than that to win this affair.

Sharkey and Scott have both concluded their ring work. Jack will play a round of golf tomorrow and do some light exercising. Scott will punch the bag and limber up otherwise. Sharkey is expected to weigh about 197 and Scott 203, on the official scales Thursday afternoon.

Garden to Continue Bouts at Miami.

Today's developments on the battle front otherwise included reports of some stimulation of box office sales and the statement of William P. Carey, Madison Square Garden president, before leaving tonight for New York, that Miami will continue to witness midwinter heavyweight festivals, for at least three more years. The Garden contract with the City of Miami has that much longer to run and Carey made it clear future plans would be unaffected by the possibility of no more than "breaking even on this week's show.

"I believe we have arranged the best available heavyweight card this winter, in spite of a lack of appeal in the main vent," said Mr. Carey. "I have confidence in the future of big fights here. We will be back with a bigger and better show in 1931."

It is understood anything over $225,000 in total sales will mean a profit. Mr. Carey is optimistic this figure will be passed but will be satisfied if it is reached. Cash on hand at the close of the box office tonight was around $85,000.

The Miami boxing commission met with the managers of principals and promoters today to confirm the list of referees, headed by Lou Magnolia, for the main bout; discuss the rules, appoint timekeepers and fix the starting time of the show for 8 p. m. Thursday. The main event will go on not later than 10 p. m. The Loughran-Charles bout may be put on after the main go if other preliminaries go the limit. The Campolo-Risko semi-final, which has attracted unusual interest, will go on around 9:15 p. m.

FIRST GROUP OF NATS DEPART TODAY FOR SOUT

Battery Men Heading for Biloxi

Party of Six Players and Staff Leave City for Training.

West and Barnes to Report With Battery Candidates.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

CHAPERONED by several scribes and under the watchful eye of Manager Walter Johnson, the first consignment of Nationals to be shipped to the Biloxi training camp will be packed on a rattler at 11 o'clock this morning.

According to Assistant Secretary Billy Smith's last count, in addition to Coaches Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, Johnson's party will be made up of five players and another whom Schacht declares has all the earmarks of being one. Regarding the latter, nothing is known of him except that Schacht says he is good enough to warrant a trial and the club is taking a look at the youngster on the coach's say so.

The players scheduled to leave here this morning, in addition to Schacht's "masked marvel," are Pitchers Irving Hadley, Don Savidge and Paul Daugert and Catchers Nelson Jester and Gordon Phelps. More may show up, however, as it is a quaint old custom among the players to make their appearance suddenly and unannounced and then to wonder why no provision has been made for their train accommodations.

Take First Workout Wednesday Morning.

This group is due to arrive at the new Mississippi spring camp in time for supper tomorrow night and to be ready for an initial workout on the following morning. Just how many of their mates they will find there remains to be seen.

Among those scheduled to report with the first group are Catchers Bennie Tate and Roy Spencer. Neither and Roy Spencer. None of this trio has signed 1930 contracts, however, as far as can be learned, which means that they likely will be among the missing. Fred Marberry already has put in his appearance at Biloxi, although unsigned, which indicates that his salary trouble is virtually over.

Pitcher Lloyd Brown has been working out by easy stages at Biloxi for some time, with the following batterymen due to make the trip direct from their homes: Catcher Harold Ruel, from St. Louis, and Pitchers Bob Burke, from Joliet, Ill.; "Sad Sam" Jones, from Woodsfield, Ohio; Adolph Liska, from Minneapolis, Minn.; Carlos Moore, from Cleveland, Tenn.; Herbert Pyle, from Karnes City, Tex., and Myles Thomas, from Altoona, Pa. In addition, Coach Patsy Gharrity, who winters at Beloit, Wis., and Outfielders Emile Barnes, of Suggsville, Ala., and Sam West, of Rochester, Tex., have been ordered to be on hand with the first consignment.

Barnes and West to Start Early.

The other outfielders are not due to arrive at Biloxi until March 9 but President Clark Griffith has his doubts about out-arguing "Goose" Goslin as to salary terms, and so is ordering Barnes and West to show up so that both will be at their best in case the Nationals have to worry along without the services of their left fielder.

Hadly and Marberry are slated for particularly hard work. Both have strong arms and it is John's plan to groom them for a large share of the assignments in the cold days of the early season when, he declares, their speed will be sufficient to give them quite an edge on alien batters.

Cooper Reviews Education Scope

U. S. Commissioner Addresses Superintendent's Session at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The concept of parents and educators uniting in a wider view of what shall be given the child in education, was the basis of an address delivered by William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, of Washington, D. C., at the afternoon session of the department of superintendents.

The old custom of punishing the sluggard and not worrying if the slow pupils dropped out, no longer prevails, said Mr. Cooper. The sociologist and the psychologist are better able to help the child than they were a short time ago. In a questionnaire sent out to 54 cities with populations of 100,000 or over, 40 reported that they maintained some sort of psychological service.

Mr. Cooper reviewed the increasing interest in parent-teacher associations.

COURT BILL FAVORED BY BAR ASSOCIATION

Arlington Group Will Send Committee to Richmond Today With Measure.

CITIZENS HEAR HEDRICK

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

By a vote of 25 to 4 the Arlington County Bar Association, in special session yesterday, approved an amended bill providing for the creation of a court to be known as the county court and appointed a special committee to proceed to Richmond today to present the draft to both Senator Frank L. Ball and Delegate Hugh Reid and urge its passage.

The bill provides that in each county having a population greater than 300 to the square mile there shall be chosen by the qualified voters at the general election on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1931, for a period of four years, a trial justice whose court shall be known as the county court. He shall hold office from the first day of January next succeeding his election. It is further provided that the judge, who is elected shall not during his term practice law within or without the State. His salary shall be $4,000 a year, to be paid monthly from the country treasury.

It is pointed out that with the passage of this bill and with the election of the judge it abolishes all justices of the peace and the present police court justices.

Provisions in Bill.

The bill further provides that such county court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction for the trial of all prosecutions for misdemeanors; for violation of county ordinances; and in all actions of a civil nature, whether arising ex-contracto or ex-delicto, including procedings by attachments, other than actions involving the title or boundary to real estate; shall have original exclusive jurisdiction where the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, does not exceed the sum of $300, and concurrent jurisdiction, with the circuit courts of such counties, where the amount in controversy in such cases, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the sum of $300 and does not exceed $1,000; provided, that where the jurisdiction is concurrent as herein provided, the justice shall upon the application of the defendant if made within ten days of service of notice upon him and upon the payment by him of the costs accrued, remove the case to the circuit court of such county, and the clerk shall forthwith docket the case.

The county court shall have exclusive jurisdiction for the preliminary examination of felony cases, with the power to discharge or commit for trial as provided in specified sections of the code.

It is pointed out in another section of the proposed bill that the county clerk shall be ex-officio clerk of the county court, and shall receive the same fees provided for by law for similar services allowed clerks of circuit courts and justices of the peace.

Jurisdiction Is Transferred.

It is further pointed out that where in the opinion of the attorneys in any case a judge may be biased he shall step aside.

Where a county court is established in a county as provided in the provisions of this bill, all of the jurisdiction heretofore conferred upon justices of the peace, trial justices and juvenile and domestic relations justices is transferred to and vested in the county court.

Opposing any final action by the bar association on the amended draft on the grounds that the members had not had sufficient time to study it, Lawrence Douglas asked for more time. He declared the original bill was introduced by Delegate Reid at the last moment and that neither the voters of the county nor the members of the bar association know anything about its merits.

"Reid is not a lawyer's lawyer in that his work is mostly departmental, and he should have conferred with members of this association as he is not acquainted with the needs of the county," said Douglas.

Capt. Crandal Mackey stated that he had been assured by Reid that the bar association would be notified before any such bill was introduced.

Charles T. Jesse, president of the association, assured the members that there had been nothing done to attempt to force the bill through.

Group to Go to Richmond.

After sending many telegrams asking for copies of the bill, Jesse stated that he went to Richmond last Thursday and returned Friday with a copy of the original bill. He stated that the original bill had provided for the election of the judge by the Legislature, but was assured by Reid that that would be changed.

This meeting, he stated, was called to discuss the amended bill and take action.

Claude O. Thomas stated he was opposed to the election of the judge by the people and asked a postponement of any action. Both his efforts, as well as those of Douglas, failed following the motion of Capt. Mackey that the bill be considered and action taken.

The special committee which will go to Richmond today is composed of Charles T. Jesse, B. M. Hedrick, Amos C. Crounse, Capt. Crandal Mackey and Emery Hosmer.

The fourth and last of the series of card parties sponsored by the executive committee of the Woman's Club of Ashton Heights will be held this afternoon in the clubhouse from 2 to 4 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Boulevard Bakery, at Clarendon.

Harry K. Green, county commissioner of revenue, announces that the State income interrogatory blanks for 1930 have been received and are now being mailed to the citizens of the county.

While the State income returns can be made as late as June 1, Commissioner Green urges the citizens to send them in by March 15, which is the last day in which Federal returns can be filed.

The Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold its monthly meeting tonight at the Ballston firemen's hall at 8 o'clock.

Suits for divorce have been filed in the county clerk's office by the following persons:

Carl Enige, against Ora M. Enige; Margaret M. Cole against Leland H. Cole; Edward M. Snakenburg against Mary Elizabeth Snakenburg; Frank Avenoso against Louise Elizabeth S. Avenoso, and W. E. Atkinson against Katherine M. Atkinson.

It was learned yesterday that it is expected that the county board of supervisors will give its final decision as to the adoption of the county zoning ordinance at its meeting next Saturday.

The ordinance, as drafted and approved by the county zoning commission, has been in the hands of the supervisors for some time since the public hearing. It is understood that there will be some changes made prior to its final adoption by the board.

The Clarendon Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Percy Oliver, Hamilton avenue, Clarendon.

Speaking at the Ballston Citizens Association last night on the plans which have been prepared for the storm drainage of the Ballston area Supervisor B. M. Hedrick failed to give any assurance of immediate relief.

He stated that last year surveys were made and $8,000 appropriated to do the work, but it developed that the sum was not sufficient and the money was diverted to the surfacing of Wilson boulevard from Clarendon to Rosslyn.

At the present time he stated the Arlington District road fund was about $20,000 behind, due to the slowness of the taxpayers in paying their taxes. All other departments in the county are in about the same condition, he stated. If the taxes are paid, the work can be done this year; otherwise, not, he stated.

The reading of a lengthy report from the secretary of the Arlington County Civic Federation asking support of the association on the resolution recently adopted by the Federation asking that a new county jail be built met with the unanimous indorsement of the members present.

The Arlington County School Board will, at its meeting tomorrow night, to be held at the courthouse, receive the report which has been compiled by representatives of the United States Bureau of Education on the need of additional schoolrooms.

It is expected that th report which covers in detail the needs for the county for many years to come and including recommendatio s for a bond issue for $580,000, which will provide for the additior.l rooms and take up the present short term notes will be accepted as a whole by the school board.

While County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp stated yesterday that he could not say what action the board will take, he expects it will discuss ways and means of carrying out the recommendations as are made in the report.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association will hold a special meeting tonight in the offices of Lyon & Fitch, at which time the needs of the county schools will be discussed.

Dr. Frank Phillips, of the United States Department of Education, who assisted in making the survey of the county schools, is announced as the principal speaker.

Two Die, 46 Hurt In Trolley Crash

Three Cars Figure in Collision During Early Day Rush in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The death toll in the triple trolley car crash in Baltimore early this morning was increased to two late today with the death of Louis Helm, 52, whose legs were severed by a piece of steel. Thomas Cerney, 42, died shortly after the accident without regaining consciousness. He lost a leg. Both men were passengers.

Forty-six persons were injured in the crash, which occurred as the cars, groping their way through fog, were carrying several hundred persons to their employment. Each car had a trailer.

The first car stopped to receive passengers and was bumped slightly by the second. While the motormen and conductors were making notes of the collision the third, traveling down grade at a faster rate of speed, struck the second car, telescoping the trailer.

SUPREME COURT DECIDES

An automobile operator whose District driving permit has been revoked may not drive a car here despite the fact that he becomes a licensed operator of another State, the United States Supreme Court decided yesterday and terminated one of the most bitterly contested traffic cases in recent annals of local courts.

The action began in the Police Court in 1928, when Judge John P. McMahon found Charles H. Fred guilty of driving a car in the District without a license. Fred's local permit had been revoked in December, 1926, but he established a residence in Virginia and obtained a permit there in August, 1928. A month later he was arrested here.

The case was carried into the District Court of Appeals by Fred's counsel, and this tribunal, basing its decision on the reciprocity agreement between the District and Virginia, reversed the action of the trial court.

Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride and his assistant, Richmond B. Keech, carried the case to the highest court in the land and gained their victory mainly on a contention that residents of the District and their property would be endangered if persons whose permits were revoked could "step over the boundary" into Virginia, obtain permits and operate within the District.

The case probbaly will mark the last appearance of Mr. Keech as an assistant corporation counsel, as he has been nominated for the post of people's counsel of the Public Utilities Commission.

House Amends Measure For Relief of Farmers

(Associated Press.)

Farmers in storm-stricken areas in fifteen States would be eligible to apply for funds to finance crops during the current year under a resolution passed by the House yesterday.

The House raised to $7,000,000 the $6,000,000 measure carried as originally approved by the Senate. It would be available to farmers in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia. The measure also was amended to include Ohio, Oklahoma, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, New Mexico and Missouri. It now goes to the Senate for agreement on the amendment.

VIRGINIA DELEGATES PASS BUDGET BILL

Move to Increase by $5,000 Tax Commissioner's Pay Is Defeated.

$101,000,000 IS ASKED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24.—The House of Delegates today passed the budget bill in record time, but declined by a vote of 44 to 41 to increase the salary of C. H. Morrissett, State tax commissioner, from $7,000 to $12,000, adopting rather an amendment that would keep his salary down to $8,000 in spite of the understanding he had with Gov. Pollard, according to reports, that he would get the larger salary if he would withdraw his pending resignation, which he did.

Just what will happen could not be predicted, but administration leaders, frankly puzzled over the turn things had taken in view of the fact that they thought they had secured 72 votes for the increase, said they believed it might be worked out. The matter of raising the salary is in the hands of the governor, limited only by the appropriations allowed by the Assembly.

Other items of the budget, which appropriates more than $101,000,000 for the 28-month period beginning March 1, 1930, went through without undue trouble, two amendments affecting the $500,000 school equalization fund offered by C. W. Davis, Southampton, and Hugh Reid, Arlington, being rejected.

Other Developments of Day.

Other developments of a rather dull day were:

1. Revival in the House roads committee of the Lesner State-wide automobile permit bills and the safety responsibility bill, and their submission to a subcommittee, headed by James A. Bear, of Roanoke, who hopes to be able to find suitable substitutes, which will provide, unlike the Dovell-Rhodes substitute, for some system of issuing permits to all automobile drivers in the State.

2. Acceptance and reporting by Senate general laws committee of a new billboard bill, which would be acceptable to outdoor advertisers, but probably not to the State conservation and development commission which proposed the original bill.

3. Presenting in the Senate by Senator Lesner of a resolution calling for the naming of a commission to study the State for legislative redistricting as soon as the result of the 1930 census becomes known.

4. Presentation and acceptance in the House of Hall resolution calling on Gov. Pollard to include in the next biennial budget a sum sufficient to furnish free basal elementary text books in the rural schools of Virginia.

Work By House.

The House plunged headlong into the appropriation bill, which was special order, and passed it with very little trouble.

There was a brief fight over a proposal to place the funds for the administering of former service men's claims in the department of law, transferring it from the department of public welfare, and the amendment to return it was accepted. The change had been made, it was charged in an effort to get rid of J. A. Nicholas, administration officer, against whom charges of "improper conduct" were brought before the committee. Mr. Nicholas, later today, tendered his resignation, which was accepted.

Senator Lesner's redistricting resolution calls for the appointment of three delegates and two senators to study the situation and to work out a plan for representation to be presented in 1932. It was referred to the committee on privileges and elections and likely will be adopted as it is a regular custom each decade to report on the presentation according to population. Because of the vast increase in the populations of cities during the past ten years it is expected that the complexion of the legislatures for the session beginning in 1934 will be more urban than at present.

Palmisano Votes Diminished by Ten

Next Hearing in Elections Fraud Charges Set for March 4.

(Associated Press.)

Recounting the ballots from the Fourth Precinct of the Third Ward, Baltimore, a House elections committee yesterday decided that Representative Vincent L. Palmisano, Democrat, had received but 406 votes instead of 416 votes as tallied in the November 6, 1928, election, and that John Philip Hill, Republican, contesting Palmisano's election, received 62 votes instead of 61.

The committee found but two ballots entirely blank, instead of 70, as had been charged by Hill when he alleged fraud in Palmisano's home precinct. They found 26 ballots on which the vote for congressman was blank, but on which other candidates had been voted. Two ballots were pronounced spoiled by the committee. Six votes were adjudged as belonging to the Socialist candidate, Neistadt.

Representative Vincent (Republican), Michigan, chairman of the elections subcommittee considering the Hill-Palmisano contest, set March 4, at 10 o'clock, for further consideration of the fraud charges brought by Hill.

Biennial Session Held By Missionary College

The Washington Missionary College, Takoma Park, showed a net gain of $22,077.99 for the fiscal year ended May 31, 1929, H. H. Hamilton, president, announced yesterday at the biennial session of the board of directors. The total income of the school was $223,454.30, he said.

The institution does not receive "one cent endowment," Mr. Hamilton said. "Poor boys work faithfully and energetically in the two-fold purpose of making their own expenses and incidently contributing to the success of the school," he added.

Alexandria thinks that Washington has a fine police force of courteous and capable men.

City Manager Lawrence and Police Chief Campbell took occasion yesterday to call on Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of the District Police Department, and tell him how pleased they were with the aid given Alexandria by District police in handling the Virginia city's celebration of the birthday anniversary of George Washington. They praised the efficiency of the Washington policemen, who volunteered to help the Alexandria police force, and added that they had received hundreds of compliments from residents and visitors on the courtesy and helpfulness of the National Capital policemen.

GIRL DIES, FIVE HURT AS AUTO HITS WALL

Irene McKendrie, 17, Instantly Killed in Culvert Cash Near Beach.

COLLISION LAID TO FOG

A 17-year-old girl was killed instantly and her five youthful companions were severely injured early yesterday when an automobile, racing through a dense fog toward this city, crashed into the head-wall of a culvert on the road, five miles from Chesapeake Beach, Md.

Miss Irene McKendrie, of 1353 Otis street northwest, was killed.

The injured are:

Miss Leah Angerman, 17, of 1016 Spring road northwest; Miss Edith O'Dwyer, 18, of 1101 Monroe street northwest; Donald Phelps, 19, of Evarts and Twenty-second streets, northeast, Langdon; Joseph King, 19, of 712 E street, northeast, and Leonard West, 18.

The injured were taken to Prince Fredrick Hospital. Physicians said that none of the injured was expected to die, and that Miss O'Dwyer and Phelps were the most seriously injured.

Accidental Cause Seen

State's Attorney Arthur Dowell and Patrolman James Shockley, of the Maryland State Police, conducted an investigation into the tragedy throughout yesterday. Mr. Dowell stated that he was satisfied that the crash resulted from an unavoidable accident and that unless some unforseen developments occurred, the investigation is terminated.

The youthful occupants of the car left their homes in this city on Sunday night shortly before 9 o'clock, according to the investigators, and enjoyed a motor trip to North Beach, Md. They immediately left for the return trip.

The automobile, owned by the King youth and driven by young West, was coursing along the road, 5 miles from the bay resort, the headlight unable to pierce the thick blanket of fog that enveloped the section.

Car Swerved From Road.

Nearing the culvert, according to investigators, the car swerved from the roadway and then crashed into the head wall of the culvert. Miss McKendrie, it was stated, was thrown approximately 20 feet from the car over the wall and into underbrush.

The five survivors of the wreck were unable to locate her after a search and journeyed a quarter of a mile to the farmhouse of Horace Ward, where help was summoned. Dr. Hugh Ward, of Owings, Md., and several others found Miss McKendrie's mangled body in the underbrush.

The injured were then driven 20 miles to the hospital at Prince Frederick. State's Attorney Dowell declared that the tragedy occurred about midnight.

Death of Boy in Crash Is Called Accidental

A verdict of accidental death in the case of 5-year-old Remo Mattera, of 519 Fourteenth street northeast, was returned yesterday by a coroners jury at an inquest in the District Morgue. The boy was injured in an automobile crash in the Northeast section on Friday and died the following day at Casualty Hospital.

While playing on Tennessee avenue near Fifth street northeast the boy was crushed beneath the wheels of a truck operated by James Campbell, colored, 34. Two men, LeRoy Burdette and William Needham, who witnessed the accident, picked up the youth, hailed a taxicab driven by Arthur Campbell, and started for the hospital. A few blocks from the hospital the cab was in collision with another car, and the two men were injured.

BUILDING CODE SEEN AS AID FOR SCHOOLS

Superintendent Orem, of Prince Georges Writes Letter to Patrons.

OTHER PROBLEMS GIVEN

Close relationship between a suitable building code for Prince Georges County and school efficiency is cited in a statement on school efficiency and costs mailed to school patrons and trustees by Nicholas Orem, county school superintendent.

Superintendent Orem declares that the lack of suitable building restrictions in the county is one of the chief unsolved problems of the school system.

"It may seem a far cry from a building code to school efficiency but in the last analysis there is a close relationship," the statement says. "For years Prince Georges County has permitted people of all types to come into its border, some of them to build veritable shacks in which to live and raise a family.

"This has not only attracted undesirable types of citizens and parents who are willing to exploit their children but it has required the furnishing of school facilities without the taxable wealth commensurate with the cost. As a result school population has grown faster than taxable wealth. The only cure seems to be a building code that will prevent the erection of residences of this character," the statement continues.

The Marvland National Capital Park and Planning Commission will consider at its meeting Thursday night a new building code and zoning law which is to be presented to the county commissioners of Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties for adoption in an effort to more securely regulate the building construction in the suburban area of both counties, according to Chief Engineer Irving G. Root.

Other major school problems as listed are the low taxable wealth per school child, the amount being $4,400 per pupil as against $10,000 in Montgomery and $20,000 in Washington; the low salaries paid teachers, which average $1,194, which results in a heavy personnel turnover, preventing maximum efficiency, and sentiment for the little rural school which progressive school systems recognize as failing to meet modern-day demands.

Mr Orem points out, however, under "reasons for encouragement" that the decrease in the number of county children attending Washington schools is probably responsible for the largest increase in attendance in its history last year, with the number and qualification of teachers increasing accordingly. He points out the gradual reduction in attendance by pupils who are either overage or underage and the fact that the county school system had the best attendance record in the State last year. He also lauds the cooperation of the county commissioners in improving school facilities.

Three persons were arrested last night on the southern Maryland pike near T. B. by Prince Georges County Policeman V. M. Nichols and Deputy Sheriff Harry Robinson on liquor charges.

Frank B. Wilson, colored, was arrested and charged with possession and transportation of 24 quarts of alleged liquor. He was held on bond of $1,000 for action of the county police court by Justice of the Peace H. W. Gore, of Upper Marlboro.

Frank H. Beach, of Silver Hill, and Inez Wilson, of Washington, were arrested near the same place and charged with transportation and possession of intoxicants. Police said they had 144 quarts of alleged liquor in their car. They were held on $1,000 bond each for the county police court by Justice of the Peace Thomas Griffith, of Forestville. Beach claimed that the young woman had nothing to do with the liquor but had merely been a guest on the trip to Washington.

County police and Pennsylvania Railroad detectives are investigating the burning of the water tank at Upper Marlboro station early Sunday. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

SEEMS there's to be a big celebration here in 1932—the bicentennial of George Washington's birth. So Luella says we'd better start preparing for it now.

"Why, that's two years away. Plenty of time."

"It'll be here like that," she warned, snapping her fingers. "You know how time flies."

Too true. Time is an aviator. Only yesterday Luella complained because I forgot her birthday. Time goes so fast it slipped by before I knew 'twas her birthday.

"If you forgot my birthday, you're liable to forget the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth, too, aren't you?" she asked.

There she was, rubbing it in again.

* * * *

"ORDINARILY, it might be forgotten, Luella; but not if they're going to have a big celebration. There'll be a parade, and banners flying, and bands playing, and plenty of time——"

"Plenty of time? That's just it! There's never plenty of time." These days, you've got to grab Time by the forelock."

What a quaint thought, and this the automotive age.

"Time hasn't a forelock any more——"

"No What?"

"Well, I don't know just what, but I imagine it's something like twelve cylinders——"

Her eyes beamed.

"I read a book about that not long ago," she told me, "Twelve Cylinders in Search of ————."

"That was a play, Luella. Twelve Characters in Search of an Author."

"I knew it was something like that. Now we've got to read a book on George Washington. There's probably one down in the Congressional Library, isn't there?"

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised. The Library's getting ready for the big celebration, too. Some of the people coming here in 1932 might want to read a book—you never can tell."

* * * *

LUELLA laughed.

"People don't come here to read books," she snapped.

"No? What do they come for?"

"To see Congress perform—and dodge income taxes."

"Ho, ho! So that's it. And in 1932 what will they be here for?"

Again the dig: "They'll come for Washington's birthday, if they don't forget birthdays," she flashed.

Next year I must tie a piece of string around my finger.

STRIKE DEATH TRIAL IS MOVING RAPIDLY

Jury in Shooting of Woman Is Completed and Five Witnesses Heard.

TRUCK DRIVER TESTIFIES

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Moving with lightning-like rapidity in its efforts to convict five Gastonia men of the murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, Bessemer City textile worker, the State today introduced four witnesses before the first day of the trial of the five men had closed.

A jury was completed within two hours after the case was called in Mecklenburg County Superior Court, to which it was transferred on a change of venue from Gaston County.

The last witness of the day was George Lingerfelt, driver of a truck in which Mrs. Wiggins and other members of the National Textile Workers Union were riding on the day the woman was shot to death. Lingerfelt, a World War veteran, described events leading up to the shooting and the scene of frenzy that followed.

Tells of Hearing Scream.

He told of hearing a woman scream "Lord, I'm shot!" and of seeing persons running up and down the road firing upon men fleeing through adjacent fields.

He linked three of the de fendants with events connected with the woman's death.

Mrs. Wiggins was killed on September 14 after a group of men had halted the union members in the truck and ordered them to turn back on their way from Bessemer City to a scheduled union meeting in West Gastonia. The State charges Troy Jones, Fred Morrow, O. H. Lunsford, Lowery Davis and Horace Wheelus, all Gastonia textile workers, are guilty of murdering the woman.

Points Out Defendants.

Lingerfelt testifying today pointed out Fred Morrow, one of the defendants, as a member of the group of men who on the day Mrs. Wiggins was slain halted the truck and ordered it to turn back. Later, he said, the truck collided with a passenger automobile wheeled across the road and was wrecked. It was then, he testified, that Mrs. Wiggins was shot and he heard the woman's screams.

Lingerfelt declared he saw Jones, another of the defendants, firing a pistol at those who fled across the fields from the wrecked truck. He said Lunsford, a third defendant, had a repeating shotgun in his hand but that he did not see him fire it.

The other three witnesses were Gaston County physicians, who testified as to the nature of Mrs. Wiggins' wounds.

Woman Is Hurt in Crash After Funeral Service

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 24.—Mrs. P. L. Arnold, aged 49, wife of a Keyser, W. Va., banker, is in a critical condition in the local hospital as the result of an automobile collision on the Valley pike, 10 miles south of here today, in which she suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. She has been unconscious since the crash. Mr. Arnold escaped with slight bruises and shock. They were returning home to Keyser after attending the funeral of Mrs. Arnold's brother in North Carolina. The identity of the occupants of the other machine is not known here, although they escaped with slight injuries. The two cars crashed almost head-on on a straight stretch of roadway.

Man Found Slain, Hidden in Thicket

"Taken for Ride," Police Believe After Discovery in West Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 24.—"Taken for a ride," is the belief of State troopers in the case of an unidentified man whose body, with head battered in and part of the neck torn away by a shotgun charge, was found half buried in a brush thicket 30 feet off the public road by two Negro boys near Paw-Paw, Morgan County, yesterday about noon.

A card with the name "Girling, Brownsville, Pa.," a girl's picture, without a name, the name "Theodore Rockman" in two places in the man's suit, hat from a Pittsburgh firm and a necktie from E. T. Reid, Cleveland, Ohio, were the only clews. The body, officials believed, was dumped there some time Saturday night. A shotgun was found not many feet away. An inquest, held by Justice of the Peace W. B. Timmon, Paw-Paw, found that the man came to his death by foul play at the hands of parties unknown. The body is in the Paw-Paw morgue awaiting identification.

Law officers communicated with Brownsville police regarding "Girling," but have received no answer as yet. The man is believed to be a Pole about 28 years old.

BUS FIRM OFFERS TO BUY RAILROAD

R. L. May Wants to Purchase Line Which Runs to Alexandria.

MRS. DANENHOWER DIES

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The city council yesterday gave its indorsement to the proposition of a combination, or a joint ownership, of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway, between Alexandria and Washington, and the A. B. & A. bus line, which is owned and operated by Robert L. May.

Mr. May, John G. Graham, local real estate man, Gardner L. Boothe, counsel for the railroad company, and George E. Warfield, cashier of the First National Bank, the last two representing the bondholders of the railroad company, appeared before the council. It was represented that either the railroad service would have to be discontinued on account of its financial losses, or sold to some one who could continue its operation; that Mr. May has indicated a desire to purchase the stock of the company and operate it in conjunction with his bus line; that the abandonment of the railroad and consequent operation of many additional buses between Alexandria and Washington would greatly impede traffic on the already crowded roads.

Mr. May stated that he is willing to purchase all the capital stock of the railroad for $250,000 and effect an arrangement by which the service of both the railroad and the bus line can be reduced and still furnish adequate transportation. The resolution of the council approved the consolidation provided that it approves a reasonable adjustment of rates on both the railroad and bus line, such rates to be approved by the State Corporation Commission. Mr. May estimated that at least 30 additional buses would be required to handle the entire amount of traffic, a large amount of this equipment lying idle except during the morning and afternoon rush periods.

Mr. Boothe stated that a recent meeting of the bondholders of the railroad had been held in Philadelphia, at which $225,000 of the $250,000 of the bonds were represented. The bonds are now worth only about 10 per cent of their face value, and this is the amount Mr. May is willing to pay for the road. If scrapped, it was stated that the road would bring only about $135,000, and it would require about three years to complete the transaction, on account of the slow sale for real estate.

While it is generally understood that Mr. May will take over the Alexandria-Washington line of the railroad, and operate it in conjunction with his bus line, no definite date for the change could be stated, as it is necessary to obtain the consent of the State Corporation Commission for the sale. Neither could a statement as to a possible increase in passenger fares be made, for the same reason.

It was also felt that the abandonment of the railroad would adversely affect property values between Alexandria and Washington, and one councilman expressed the opinion that Alexandria would lose at least 7,500 of its population in that event.

Councilman Tiger stated that now that the weather is more favorable to street work, some work should be started on the improvement of Queen street. City Manager Lawrence stated it would be necessary to secure the signatures of property owners, and also to make arrangements with the Alexandria Water Co. for an adequate water supply for better fire protection. On motion of Councilman Timberman he was instructed to confer with Attorney Boothe, of the water company, in regard to this matter.

Richard Gibson was granted a permit to conduct an antique shop at the intersection of Washington and Gibbon streets.

On motion of Mayor Smoot a resolution of congratulation and thanks to the George Washington Birthday Association was adopted, for the successful parade held Saturday, regarding which the mayor said he had heard many complimentary remarks.

A meeting of the George Washington Birthday Association will be held in the George Mason Hotel Thursday night when final reports from all committees will be heard.

The funeral of Mrs. Frances Smoot Danenhower, who died on Sunday in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. William J. Morton. Burial will be in the Methodist Protestant Cemetery.

REPORT SAYS APPLE PRODUCTION TO RISE

U. S. Data Show Recovery in Industry and Bright Outlook.

MANY YOUNG ORCHARDS

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Growers of apples for commercial purposes may expect rising production throughout the country for several years at least, although the rate of increase will be probably less than formerly, is predicted in the 1930 outlook report of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The extent to which the industry has recovered and the tendency toward more moderate plantings in recent years is encouraging for the efficient commercial grower who produces fruit of high quality, but the large number of relatively young trees now planted indicates an increase in commercial production over a period of years, the report says.

Notwithstanding the low production and the relatively good prices of 1927 and 1929, it points out, commercial plantings "appear to be justified only where unusually favorable conditions exist for the economical production of good-quality fruit."

Apple Tree Survey Made.

According to an apple tree survey made in 33 States, which produce more than 90 per cent of the United States' apple crop, from 25 to 30 per cent of the trees in the commercial orchards reported were less than nine years old at the beginning of 1928, and 65 to 70 per cent were under 19 years old at that time. As the older orchards, as a class, have fewer trees per acre, the proportion of the acreage in young trees was somewhat less than the proportion of young trees.

"However," the report continues, "with general tendencies toward an increasing bearing life and an increasing productive capacity per tree, owing to better orchard management and to the greater proportion of orchards on the better locations, it seems reasonable to expect a continued upward trend in commercial production for several years.

Family Orchards Decline.

"This tendency toward increasing commercial production probably will continue to be partially offset by declining production in family orchards, since the rate of plantings in such orchards has decreased in recent years and since the family orchards generally receive little attention. But the apples produced by the millions of trees in these small orchards will continue to have considerable influence on apple prices, especially in seasons when growing conditions are good throughout the country."

In the barreled-apple States recent commercial plantings were found to have been fairly heavy, and at the beginning of 1928 about two-thirds of the trees reported in the survey of commercial orchards were less than 19 years old and nearly one-third were under 9 years. The pronounced movement toward better management of commercial orchards may easily become a factor of increasing significance and contribute materially to the bearing capacity of the commercial orchards in the barreled-apple States, the report declared.
